POOR PREPARATION FOR S-D DAY

Eight Die in Minnesota Accidents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eight persons died in weekend traffic mishaps in Minnesota, raising the 1954 state highway toll to 609—seven less than during the same period last year.

Patrick J. Costello, 80, Moose Lake, died late Sunday of a fracture skull after he was struck two miles north of Moose Lake on Highway 61 by a car driven by Albert Timm, Duluth. Timm was not held, and no inquest was scheduled.

Eugene Groth, 21, of Dakota County, was killed near Mendota

Sunday. He was riding in a car driven by Wayne Wenzel, 23, Mendota. The machine sideswiped an auto driven by Joseph Galvin, 38, St. Paul. Wenzel's machine rolled down a 25-foot embankment and both men were thrown out. Groth was killed when the car rolled over him. Wenzel was hospitalized with head injuries. Galvin, his wife and daughter were only slightly hurt.

Earlier Sunday, 17-year-old Marion Backmann, Perham, was killed when the car driven by her boy friend, Duane Hanson, 24, of Dent, Minn., left Highway 108 near Pelican Rapids and went into the ditch. Hanson was hospitalized in fair condition.

Mrs. Verne Owens, St. Paul Park, was killed Saturday night when she apparently was thrown from her car as it hit a guard rail. She was struck by the car as it caromed back onto the highway.

Earlier Saturday, William J. Bamhart, 69, Rogers, Minn., was fatally injured when his car collided with a milk truck in Hennepin County. George Nickabone, 16, Ponsford, was killed when a car plunged off a road near Detroit Lakes. Wallace W. Lupient, 47, Minneapolis, was fatally injured when he was struck by a car, and Thomas Marshall, 18, Duluth, was killed when his car missed a turn and plunged into Lake Superior as he hurried to catch his ship.

A youthful driver was jailed in Baraboo, Wis., Sunday and charged with drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident after a three-car crash resulted in death to one man and injuries to ten others.

Jailed, according to Police Officer Edward Peters, was a youth who gave his name as Harold Schonasky, 19, of Baraboo.

Schonasky went through a stop sign, struck two cars in a downtown crash, and then sped away.

Injured fatally in the crash was Leonard Stracy, 37, of Baraboo, a passenger in one of the cars, he died at a local hospital later Sunday.

Peters said Schonasky was located an hour after the collision seated in his auto which was stuck in a ditch on the outskirts of the city.

Four of the injured remained in hospitals Sunday night. Six others received hospital treatment and were released. Officials said none of the injured was hurt seriously.

Mrs. Katherine Webb, 43, of Stoughton, was killed Saturday night when an auto skidded off Highway 138 south of Stoughton and struck a culvert.

A 15-year-old rural Argyle boy, Alfred Ommott Jr., was injured fatally when he fell from a tractor. He and two companions were using to return from a hunting trip.

Young Mother Found Slain In Arkansas

Mrs. Milton Fuller

BRINKLEY, Ark. (U)—A young mother was hanged with a four-foot piece of stove wood yesterday in her bedroom.

Her husband Milton Fuller, said he found his 28-year-old wife, her head smashed, lying beside her bed shortly after dawn. He said he had been dozing in the living room when he heard a noise and entered his wife's room. He said he saw her body topple to the floor.

She died two hours later in a Brinkley hospital.

Her two children, Mary Helen, 5, and Kathy, 18 months, were sleeping in the next room when the attack occurred.

A huge manhunt was launched for a tall man with one shoe missing. Bare footprints were found in the back yard, near a woodpile, where it was believed the killer had picked up his weapon. Police Chief Frank Henderson said barefoot mud tracks were found on the kitchen floor.

State police issued a pickup order for a six-foot white man wearing a khaki overcoat and believed to be minus one shoe.

At the same time, Henderson said, "five to eight" Negroes, all former employees of the Fullers, were jailed.

Henderson said one of the Negroes wore a bloody shirt, which is being sent to Little Rock today for examination by the state medical examiner. The Negro, Henderson claims, said he bled on the shirt Friday when he got a nose-bleed.

Nation Girds for Safe-Driving Day

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
CHICAGO (U)—The nation's mobile millions today headed for an extraordinary test of their ability to drive and walk safely for 24 hours.

The test comes Wednesday. It has been designated Safe Driving Day.

Motorists and pedestrians in communities across the country are being alerted by newspaper stories, radio broadcasts, modern Paul Revere in sound trucks, parades, posters and handbills.

President Eisenhower proclaimed S-D Day. It is sponsored by the President's Action Committee for Highway Safety.

The purpose is to reduce traffic accidents greatly to show that it can be done. The reduction has not been specified. The goal, at least, is a big slash and, at best, no accidents at all.

The committee has let each community make its own how-to-do-it arrangements. Some seem to be doing very little. Others are making a major event of it. There never has been anything quite like it.

Many cities have challenged other cities to S-D Day contests. Thousands of bumper strips and stickers have been distributed.

Plans have been made to ring church bells, voice "Be careful" pleas through loud-speakers—even to pause and pray.

An Associated Press survey shows what many communities have done and plan to do.

Washington, D. C., put on a parade of wrecked cars and 46 caskets, each representing a 1954 traffic fatality in the District of Columbia.

Cars equipped with amplifiers are touring the Seattle area, spreading the safety gospel.

Traffic officials in San Diego, Calif., circulated 100,000 safe driving pledges and arranged a parade of crash-crumbled autos for today.

School kids brought home safety letters in Providence, R. I. Literature is being distributed through schools in Kansas. Truck and bus stickers and 10,000 arm bands have been issued in Miami, Fla.

Reminders in poster, bumper strip or leaflet form have been passed out in Madison, Wis., Rochester, N. Y., and Norfolk, Richmond and Roanoke, Va.

New Mexico and Arizona will have a special low-state-wins show-down.

Rivalry of the sort associated with football has sprung up among cities. Knoxville, Tenn., challenged Chattanooga, Tenn., to an S-D Day contest.

Seattle challenged Portland, Ore. Tampa, Fla., challenged Miami, Jacksonville and St. Petersburg.

Pope Suffers Setback, First Since Crisis

Specialist Called Back to Check Pontiff's Progress

By FRANK BRUTTO
VATICAN CITY (U)—Pope Pius XII was reported somewhat weaker today—the first break in his slow but steady improvement.

Authoritative sources close to the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church said he spent a fairly restful night but apparently was feeling the strain of the consecration service yesterday for the Archbishop of Milan, Msgr. Giovanni Battista Montini.

The Pope on Saturday recorded a blessing lasting nearly five minutes which was broadcast at the close of the ceremony yesterday. He listened from his sickbed to the broadcast and was described as profoundly moved by it.

The message was the longest of the three—two of them recorded—which the Pope has broadcast since he rallied from his grave collapse Dec. 2 and began to improve slowly.

Message Recorded Twice
Vatican sources revealed that yesterday's message had to be recorded twice because the Pope's voice faltered the first time. On the version which was broadcast, it said he appeared stronger than had when he gave his two previous messages.

Prof. Antonio Gasbarrini, one of four physicians who signed the last medical bulletin on the Pope's health last Thursday, was called back today from his Bologna clinic. It was expected that the Pope's personal physician, Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, would ask him to examine the pontiff again and to check his progress thus far toward recovery from the gastric ailment which has plagued him for the past year.

The Pope's blessing for Msgr. Montini was viewed as a special mark of favor to an old friend and one of the Pope's closest associates. The 57-year-old archbishop was until his appointment recently Vatican prosecretary of state for ordinary affairs and is regarded in some Vatican circles as the Pope's most likely successor.

U.N. Awaiting Red Answer on Airmen

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and his aides settled down today to a spell of watchful waiting for an answer from Red China on Hammarskjöld's proposed free-the-fliers trip to Peiping.

There was no comment immediately from U. N. officials on a Peiping radio broadcast early today asserting that the United Nations "has no right to interfere with China's sentencing of the American spies."

The broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, made no direct reference to Hammarskjöld's cable to Premier Chou En-lai Friday night proposing that they meet in Peiping soon after Dec. 26 to discuss the case of the fliers and all other U. N. personnel still held captive.

The radio blast repeated Peiping's previous charges, which the Soviet Union had aired in the U. N. Assembly, that the jailed Americans had "sneaked into China by air to carry out espionage" and that "it is China's... sovereign right of punishing spies."

The U. N. Assembly has approved the U. S. contention that the fliers were prisoners of war entitled to release under the Korean armistice.

Regarding Peiping's failure so far to reply to Hammarskjöld's cable, a U. N. spokesman said last night that the secretary general would not be disappointed if several days elapsed before a formal answer came.

"The answer may come directly, it may come roundabout," the spokesman said.

Jet Bomber Bogs Down In Muddy Field

MILWAUKEE (U)—A giant Air Force jet bomber that used up all of its runway at Gen. Mitchell Field rolled across a highway, nicked a car and bogged down in a muddy field.

There was no explanation for the mishap Saturday night except that the crew was unable to stop the plane. There were no injuries.

Air Force officials ordered an investigation.

The three crewmen aboard the B45 were 1st Lt. James Liebrock, 25, New York, the pilot; 1st Lt. Norman Duecker, 24, Milwaukee, co-pilot, and 2nd Lt. John O'Mahoney, 22, New York, the navigator.

Donald Chandler, 23, of Cudahy, said he was driving with his wife along the highway east of the field when he saw the plane run off the runway. He said the plane crossed the road in back of his car and a section of fence knocked down by the aircraft dented one of his fenders.

Ike Confers With Republicans In Congress

Meeting Had Been Called to Discuss Domestic Issues

WASHINGTON (U)—A Republican congressional leader said today the administration has decided to ask a postponement of corporation and excise tax cuts now scheduled to go into effect next April 1.

The GOP leader, who asked not to be quoted by name, was one of those attending an all-day conference between President Eisenhower and Republican congressional leaders on the administration's program for the next session.

The decision to extend present tax rates had been generally expected but this was the first statement by anyone in authority that it had been decided upon.

The now-scheduled tax cuts would cost the Treasury some three billion dollars a year.

The Republican official said more time was devoted to taxes and the fiscal situation generally at this morning's session of the all-day meeting than to any other topic.

In announcing plans for the meeting at his news conference last Wednesday, the President also disclosed Democratic leaders who will be in charge of the new Congress will join Republicans at a conference Tuesday to discuss foreign policy.

Pledged Bipartisan Talks
The chief executive pledged after the November elections, which gave the Democrats control, there would be bipartisan consultation on international affairs.

At that time the President also said he intended to confer with the Democrats on domestic issues. Since then the White House has placed less emphasis on that phase of the program.

An hour and a half after the start of today's meeting with the Republican leaders, Secretary of State Dulles left the White House and told newsmen he had just spent 45 minutes briefing the GOP chiefs on foreign affairs. He declined to provide any details.

Republican Senate Leader Knowland of California, who has split with the administration on some foreign policy questions, said in advance of today's meeting he expected its scope would be limited mainly to domestic issues.

Knowland said also the legislative proposals put forward by the President may determine whether the GOP wins or loses in 1956.

Move for Tax Revision
Rep. Bolling (D-Mo.) said yesterday he expects the Democratic-controlled Congress to move toward revising the administration's 1954 tax revision program so as "to spread the benefits of tax relief to a much broader mass of people."

But Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.), debating with Bolling, said he thinks the Democrats will wait to move on taxes until 1956, "which is an election year."

The two House members agreed that there is likely to be little general disagreement on foreign policy.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said in an interview yesterday he thinks Eisenhower will get nearly solid Democratic backing for his present foreign policy course.

Sparkman said that after a bad start, the President and Secretary of State Dulles have "regained the initiative," and he added: "If they continue that, they will find the Democrats in Congress willing to shoulder their fair share of the burden."

Sparkman predicted, however, that the President will confront strong Democratic opposition over power, tax, farm and some other issues.

The newly elected Democratic national chairman, Paul M. Butler, repeated on Sunday his assertion that Eisenhower has demonstrated an incapacity to lead the nation. He said there has been more evidence of "lack of unanimity or policy" by the administration in the past 22 months than at any other time in recent U. S. history.

Over the weekend, the President acted to pull together the administration's foreign economic program under the direction of Joseph M. Dodge, Detroit banker and former budget director.

Naming Dodge as a special presidential assistant, Eisenhower directed him to integrate the foreign economic program with national security and domestic economic policies.

Knowland, who has had differences with the President on some international policies, discounted the likelihood of any GOP split which would affect the administration's legislative program.

Pension Plan Changes Help Congressmen

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (U. S. A.) — Revisions Congress made this year in its pension system will be highly advantageous to some members who are giving up their seats through retirement or defeat.

The most important change — from the pensioner's point of view — deals with computation of the amount of pension. The effect is to raise pensions and allow a maximum annual pension of $11,250 instead of the former maximum of $9,372.

The pension is based on the average salary of a member from 1946 until the year of retirement.

When the original pension, or retirement pay law was enacted in 1946, members received $10,000 salary annually. This was increased to $12,500 the following year, plus a $2,500 annual expense allowance.

The new law considers the expense allowance as part of salary. Figuring in the expense allowance means higher average pay and consequently a higher pension when it is computed.

Further, there is a provision in the law limiting the maximum pension to 75 per cent of the salary received at the time of retirement. By calculating the $2,500 annual expense allowance as pay, the annual salary of a Congress member becomes $15,000 for purposes of determining pension.

So the pension ceiling is raised. For the maximum, 30 years of service is required. The rate is determined by multiplying the number of years of service by 2 1/2 per cent. For instance, assume 10 years of service: 10 multiplied by 2 1/2 is 25. The lawmaker is entitled to retirement pay amounting to 25 per cent of his average pay since 1946, assuming he is qualified in other respects.

The pension whole plan is voluntary. Those who elect to come under it must pay 6 per cent of their annual salary into a retirement fund.

Under the new law, the 6 per cent applies both to a Congress member's $12,500 pay and $2,500 expense allowance — the total of $15,000 treated as salary in figuring his pension.

The pension records are not open to public inspection. Officially, it is a secret which lawmakers have elected to get under the retirement system.

Retired Diplomat Hugh Gibson Dies

GENEVA, Switzerland (U. S. A.) — Hugh S. Gibson, retired veteran of U. S. diplomacy and director of a 24-nation committee to promote European migration, died yesterday from a heart attack. He was 71.

Gibson was stricken at his home near Geneva while his valet was helping him dress for the day.

He was last night by former President Herbert Hoover as "one of America's great public servants." Gibson had served as an envoy in posts around the world and taken part in numerous international conferences and projects from 1914 until he retired in 1938.

He came out of retirement in 1952 to become director of the newly organized Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration, with headquarters in Geneva. The organization arranged in two years for 230,000 Europeans to settle overseas, principally in North and South America and Australia.

Plans are under way to move 143,000 abroad in 1953. Gibson started his career with the U. S. foreign service in 1908 as secretary of the legation to Honduras. He held the same post in Brussels during World War I and later served in London, Paris, Vienna and Poland. He was envoy to Switzerland from 1924-27, to Belgium 1927-32 and to Brazil 1933-37.

In the later years of his career, he filled key roles in the international arms conferences of 1927 and 1929 in Geneva and at London in 1930.

He was born in Los Angeles Aug. 16, 1883.

Inquest Set In Hanson Death At Trempealeau

La Crosse County Coroner to Hold Hearing Wednesday

LA CROSSE, Wis. — An inquest into the death of Louis Hanson, 55, Trempealeau, who was killed Nov. 24 in a highway crash east of here, will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the La Crosse County Court-house.

Dr. George Reay, La Crosse County coroner, will direct the inquest and county highway officers Jack Haack and Jerome Brieske, who investigated, will testify.

Hanson's car plowed broadside into another driven by Laddy Krava, 35, La Crosse, at the first bridge over the east channel of Black River 12 miles north of La Crosse. Hanson and three women passengers were headed toward La Crosse when they met Krava. Authorities said he was skidding sideways on the icy pavement.

Krava and the three Hanson passengers were injured.

Swift & Co. Production, Sales Down in 1954

CHICAGO — Swift & Company's dollar sales and total tonnage handled during the fiscal year that ended Oct. 30, 1954, fell slightly below the record peaks set last year, Pres. John Holmes revealed today in his annual report to shareholders. Net earnings dropped to $19,050,891 from the 1953 net of $33,050,891.

Total dollar sales in 1954 were $2,510,894,895 — the fourth consecutive year they have exceeded $2,500,000,000.

Although results compared favorably with the meat industry generally, Pres. Holmes termed the 1954 earnings "disappointing." The 1954 net, from all sources, amounted to 8 1/10ths of a cent per dollar of sales. Earnings this year were $3.22 per share compared to $5.72 in 1953.

"It was a difficult year for the meat industry," the Swift president pointed out. "Ups and downs caused by rapidly shifting prices are always expected. In 1954, however, the pressure on profit margins was more severe and prolonged than we have experienced for many years. This situation prevailed in several lines, but was especially true of pork operations."

The company's modernization and improvement program moved ahead more rapidly in 1954, with the net increase in fixed assets amounting to $14,139,192. Since 1945, the net investment in buildings and equipment has increased $12,523,627. Included in the 1954 building program is the new meat packing plant at Jackson, Miss., which started operations Nov. 3, a new tannery being built at South Paris, Mo., and the completion of three new wholesale sales units at Houston, Tex., Washington, D. C., and Charleston, S. C.

Major rebuilding and improvement projects were carried on in eight meat packing plants including the Winona plant and several other units, including dairy and poultry plants, oil mills, refineries, and plant food factories.

Paying tribute to his organization, the Swift president said that, except for isolated disturbances, employees did a good job during a tough year. The Swift organization of 78,000 employees includes 16,188 who have a record of 20 or more years of service.

Pres. Holmes reported the company's nutrition exhibit, "Food for Life," which opened in June 1954, at Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry, has already attracted more than a million people.

"During the coming year prospects are good for a relative abundance of the basic foods processed by Swift & Company. Total meat production, which reached an all-time peak this year, is expected to be slightly higher in 1955. More pork and veal, about the same tonnage of beef, and slightly less lamb are predicted for the year ahead. Dairy and poultry products, and refined fats and oils are in plentiful supply."

Man's 'Lost' Billfold Found Under Mattress

$45,000 Fire at Plainview

Workmen Placed Canvas over the front windows of the Steffen Implement Co., Plainview, Sunday afternoon following a fire there early in the morning. Damaged washers, freezers and refrigerators are on the charred display floor, foreground. An explosion followed the outbreak of fire smashing the glass in the front windows and door.

The Blackened And Cracked Exterior of the Steffen Implement Co., Plainview, testifies to the intensity of the fire and explosion there about 2:45 a.m. Sunday. Partially burned tires, which created intense heat as they burned on the showroom floor, are at the curb, lower left. Two new farm tractors and many home appliances were among the items lost in the $45,000 blaze. (Daily News photos)

But Hanc, who is now 66, has decided not to retire at this time.

Identity of Body Found in Field At Beloit Mystery

BELOIT, Wis. (AP) — The identity of a man whose body was found in a farm field remained a mystery today.

The body was found under a shock of corn on the Rudy Obeck farm near here Saturday. A farm hand saw a foot sticking from the corn shock.

Rock County Coroner E. J. Overton said two bullet holes were found in the man's right temple and the back of the head. A pistol was found four feet away.

Overton said the body had been lying in the field between two and four weeks. He described the man as between 35 and 45 years old. The sheriff's office said no billfold or identification papers were found on the body. Fingerprints and clothing were sent to the state crime laboratory at Madison.

Youths Discover Early Sunday Morning Blaze

PLAINVIEW, Minn. (Special) — A fire and explosion early Sunday morning destroyed the Steffen Implement Co. causing an estimated $45,000 loss.

Early discovery by two rural youths returning from a dance probably kept the fire from spreading to other buildings in the Main street business block. The Timm Bowling Alley next door was damaged by smoke.

Destroyed were the cement block building, which local contractors say must be replaced, two new farm tractors, five home freezers, two refrigerators, several washers and dryers, a feed blower and uncounted parts, tires and farm implement accessories. Fourteen Plainview firemen, under the leadership of Earl Lehnertz, fought the flames for an hour before bringing them under control.

Water Bucket Enough

The blaze was discovered at 2:40 a.m. by Marv Zimmerman and Vern Kruger who were parked across the street after returning from a dance at Wabasha. They said the fire could have been put out with a bucket of water when they first saw it. Flames were noticeable along the east wall where the office was located. The youths notified Ed Jacobs, night constable, who was in the city hall a few doors up the street. He sounded the alarm.

"Smoke was pouring from the windows and the transom over the door when I first saw it," Lehnertz said. "By the time I got the first fire truck onto the street an explosion knocked out both front windows." The fire station is in the same block.

Cause of the fire is unknown. It is believed, however, that either the oil heating system or wiring was at fault. The basement, where the furnace is located, was unharmed. A chimney passes through the building in the area where the youths first saw flames.

Heat generated from the burning of a stack of tractor tires along the east wall cracked the concrete blocks. This side of the building was most severely damaged. Firemen pulled some farm implements from a garage at the rear of the building. A tractor being repaired there was damaged only slightly as the firemen stopped the fire short of the back shop area.

Equipment and appliances on the main display floor, valued at about $10,000, were a total loss as was the office. Ledgers and records were preserved in the safe and at Steffen's home. The office and parts department on opposite sides of the display floor were in ashes. Insulation in the ceiling fell to the floor as the flames reached through the roof.

Clarence Timm, owner of the bowling alleys, entered his building after 3 a.m. and turned on fans to clear the smoke. He made coffee and served refreshments to the firemen. "I went around and turned off the gas leading in here," Timm said Sunday. "If the fire would have gotten to the gas line, we would really have had a fire."

New Quarters Considered

Howard Steffen, who had the building constructed in late 1944 and early 1945, is contemplating a move to a vacant building in town until the charred ruins can be cleaned up and repaired. He has insurance on the appliances, but "not enough on the building." His wife does his bookkeeping and had some of the records at home where she is caring for their 7-week-old third child.

Employees of the company put canvas and boards over the windows and doors Sunday afternoon. Jacobs had checked the Steffen building a few moments before the fire broke out. After driving to the school in the west end of town he returned to the city hall as Zimmerman and Kruger came up to report the fire. Hundreds of townfolk turned out in the middle of the cold night to witness the battle between flames and firemen.

Post Office Sets Extra Open Hours

Despite the fact that early mailing reminders have been issued for more than a month, post office officials are again preparing for the annual flood of last-minute Christmas mailings with special hours next Saturday and Sunday.

And although the last of your out-of-town Christmas cards and packages SHOULD have been mailed Saturday, the post office department is familiar with the public's policy of mailing parcels and cards so they'll arrive at their destinations "just before" Christmas. Practice has proven, however, that such isn't the case in many instances.

And the recommendation that all local cards be in the mail by Tuesday isn't without reason, as it will help distribute the flow of mail evenly until the holiday just 10 days away.

Nevertheless, the parcel post window at the Winona Post Office will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. next Saturday and Sunday for receipt of parcel post and sale of stamps.

Burglars Work Overtime, Rob 8 Fargo Firms

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Burglars hit hard here over the weekend, breaking into eight business places and making off with around $1,000 in cash and checks.

Biggest haul was made at Haggart's Service Inc., where an official of the company today estimated the loss from a chiseled safe at $600-$800. About $150 in stamps also was taken, said N.I. Flegel, office manager.

On first check Sunday, Flegel believed the burglars had cleaned the place out, getting around $3,600.

Some $400 was taken in raids on seven other firms.

The seven included Don's Youngstown Kitchens Store, the Farmers Union Central Exchange, Wheel Service Inc., Dakota Brick Co., Service Chevrolet, Smith Inc., and Nordak Ford Tractor Corp.

The Red Men's annual Christmas poultry sale will be held at the Wigwam Saturday night.

Perfect Driving Day Would Save 97 Lives

"Report cards" will be tabulated Thursday across the nation to see how drivers and pedestrians fared in Wednesday's 24-hour driving test.

If Winonans, and everyone else in the United States, get a straight A in the test, 97 lives will be saved. (That is the average daily total of automobile accident deaths in the country this year.)

The day has been set aside by a presidential proclamation as Safe Driving Day, and the 24-hour campaign has been endorsed by law enforcement, governmental and civic leaders under a complex program coordinated by the President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety.

Violations Involved

This committee set up the test, not from obscure information, but from the rules and regulations for traffic safety that should govern everyday driving. They recognize that many of the so-called "accidents" result from violations of existing regulations.

In Minnesota alone, an estimated 144 of the 542 fatal accidents in 1953 resulted from excessive speed. Not all involved speeds exceeding limits established for specific highways.

Special conditions such as the ice and snow we're now experiencing often reduce the "safe driving speed" below prescribed limits.

Simply keeping the 24 hours during the test period free of accidents isn't going to eliminate the automobile as one of the top killers. But the test may be the stimulus safety organizations have been seeking to prove to drivers that 365-day-a-year observance of traffic regulations can substantially reduce the traffic toll that last year claimed a victim every 14 minutes.

Just deciding to drive with extra care Wednesday won't be enough. Safe driving can't be turned "on" and "off" like a light switch. An accident-free Wednesday will take special effort on the part of everyone.

Neglected Rules

Here are a few of the most neglected rules of the road:

Signal at least 100 feet before a turn is begun.

Allow at least a car's length for each 10 miles of speed when following another vehicle.

Flashing red signals indicate that you must come to a complete stop—not just slow down or shift gears.

Emergency vehicles, including fire trucks, police cars and ambulances must be given the right of way on emergency runs. When you hear or see a warning signal, pull to the right and stop.

Dim your lights when within 200 feet of the vehicle ahead of you and within 1,000 feet of a vehicle approaching. Always use the low beam when driving in snow, smoke or fog.

Right of way must be yielded to pedestrians walking lawfully within a crosswalk or at any intersection whether or not the crosswalk is marked.

In passing, you must never drive in the left lane when you are within 700 feet of the top of a hill or a curve that blocks your view of the road ahead.

Vision to the front, rear and sides must be clear and unobstructed by snow and ice, stickers or signs on the windshield or windows of the vehicle.

Inspect your car periodically to make sure all equipment is in good working-order.

Never drive at a speed that is faster than reasonable under existing conditions. This applies particularly to winter, when roads are slippery and vision is often obstructed by snow.

Give the right of way to the other person rather than become involved in an accident just because he or she is violating a law or neglecting highway courtesies.

Knowledge of the laws alone, isn't enough. They must be practiced in everyday driving. Winona will have a better chance of enjoying an accident-free Wednesday if everyone starts concentrating on safe driving immediately.

Young Lake City Mother Held In Baby's Death

Mental Examination Planned for Mrs. Lyle Pfingsten, 18

JACKSON, Minn. — A young Lake City, Minn., mother was being held here today for mental examination following the death of her 15-day-old son, Rex, whose skull, the coroner said, was fractured "apparently by a blow from a blunt object."

Held was Mrs. Lyle (Maxine) Pfingsten, 18, wife of a Red Wing airman. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lafferty, Lake City.

The Associated Press reported that Rex died early Sunday in a Jackson hospital. Dr. W. B. Wells, Jackson county coroner, said the infant apparently was swung around and its head probably struck a doorknob or some other blunt object.

Members of the Lafferty family said today that Maxine was examined at University Hospital, Minneapolis. They said she has feared that the baby would be taken from her. She and her husband were returning from Wichita Falls, Tex., where he is stationed and stopped at a Jackson motel Saturday night.

Sheriff Harry A. Torsden said the couple retired early and that Pfingsten said he was awakened about 10 p.m. by his wife who feared for the safety of her baby. Pfingsten is the son of Mrs. George Cedarburg, Red Wing.

Arcadia District To Take Dispute To Supreme Court

ARCADIA, Wis. — Arcadia School District 1 is contemplating asking the Wisconsin Supreme Court for a ruling on its tuition dispute with the Buffalo County school committee.

Although no appeal has been taken yet, the district may seek action in view of a decision supporting the committee's action handed down earlier this month by Circuit Judge Kenneth S. White of the 8th Judicial District.

The school district took issue with the committee for refusing to allow tuition claimed by the district in excess of the statutory maximum of $216 per student annually less state and county aids. Contending that costs of education per pupil a year are $263, the district noted that the committee had allowed amounts in excess of the statutory maximum for schools in Buffalo County, while refusing excesses for schools outside the county.

The $216 maximum is established by statute for nonoperating school districts, with county committees given the power to certify larger payments.

Judge White's action dismissed the case brought by the district and he upheld the committee's contention that it has been delegated "broad powers to set tuition rates, that such powers are constitutional, that the county school committee had complied with all procedural requirements and that the proper recourse of the plaintiffs was not to the judiciary but to the Legislature."

Representing the district is the Arcadia law firm of Fugina, Kostner, Quinn & Ward.

Returned here last week, he appeared before Judge Karl Finkelnburg for sentencing this morning.

The court ordered that a presentence investigation be made and pending the filing of a report with the court Akins was released on his own recognizance.

County Atty. W. Kenneth Nissen represented the state at this morning's session and Akins was represented by Alton E. Bergh, St. Charles.

Old Friends Together After 40-Year Span

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (U)—Three old friends met in the MGM commissary for lunch. The last time they had all been together was 40 years ago when they appeared in "The Birth of a Nation."

One was Lillian Gish, as sweet-faced as Flora, the little sister in "The Birth of a Nation." Still a lovely woman, she has remained active in films. She hadn't been on the MGM lot since 1918.

The third member was Donald Crisp, London-born Oscar winner ("How Green Was My Valley") and reputed to be fabulously wealthy. A filmster since 1909, he played U. S. Grant in "Birth."

The trio talked about their early days in films. Mostly they spoke of "The Birth of a Nation," which had changed their lives as well as the course of the industry. All went on to stardom.

"I remember that everyone picked in on the picture," said Miss Gish. "I counted Mr. Griffith's right-hand man Bobby Heron in the picture five times—as a Southerner, a Northerner, a renegade and so forth. I was even in a cheering crowd at the end, after I had died in the picture. It was like that: We were stars one day and extras the next."

"Tut tut," said Crisp. "We were never extras. We were stars."

"Not on your life," countered Miss Gish. "Those of us from the stage didn't want star billing. It was a disgrace to have it known we were working in the 'flickers.'"

They had one thing in common: Their loyalty to Griffith.

"Recently Charles Laughton directed his first picture and he did an amazing thing," said Miss Gish proudly. "He went to the Museum of Modern Art in New York and had them run all of Mr. Griffith's old films. He said he wanted to learn movie making from the master."

"Isn't it too bad he never had a business sense?" said Miss Marsh. "He always took the money from one picture and put it into the next one."

When Griffith died at 73 in 1948, he left an estate of less than $50,000. This was despite the millions he had made as a director.

Crisp talked of Griffith's last years, which were spent in neglect by the movie industry. The actor had spoken angrily when he addressed the film bigwigs who turned out for the funeral.

Marilyn, Joe Have Dinner Together

HOLLYWOOD (U)—Marilyn Monroe and her former husband, Joe DiMaggio, dined together again last night, this time at a Malibu restaurant.

It is one of several dates they have had since the actress obtained a divorce Oct. 27 but they have consistently said "we're just good friends."

In 1911 a Palma weather station recorded 2.47 inches of rain in three minutes.

They'll Do It Every Time

It Happened Last Night Edgar Bergen Snaps Wife And She Snaps Right Back

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Edgar Bergen and I made a date to photograph his beautiful wife, Frances, who's turned night club singer—and she wasn't very late.

Only a half hour.

"We have everything but our model," groaned Bergen, standing hip-deep in Roliflexes, Voigtlanders, Super-Ikontas, Polaroids and Brownies.

"She was more punctual than this when she worked for John Powers!" he snorted — and just then his bride of 9 years, the former Frances Westerman of Alabama, puffed in. Wife-like, she blamed him for being late.

"I had to go all over town for those opera-length hose you wanted me to get!" she said.

Bergen, in shirt sleeves, was already down on the floor, camera aimed at her pretty legs. I was taking pictures of him taking pictures of her, and Gary Wagner was taking pictures of me taking pictures of him taking pictures of her.

Frances — who opened at the Monteleone Hotel in New Orleans Tuesday — said the camera problem is large in their family.

"I started as a boy in Decatur, Mich.," gurgled the radio star, from his perch on a chair. "I was the only photographer there. There'd been another one—but he starved to death."

Plate Gets Runny

"The theater owner wanted me to photograph the movie house."

"I left the plate out in the sun. It got a little soft."

"Fact is, it got runny. The theater looked like the roof had caved in. The manager liked it. He said it showed how funny his pictures were—people laughed so hard the building fell in."

"He paid me $5 and I've been making big money like that at photography ever since."

Mrs. Bergen, who views photography just as my B.W. does, smiled and waited her chance. Presently it came.

A flash bulb didn't go off on Bergen's camera.

"Something very unusual has happened to this camera," he said. "What do you mean?" asked Frances. "Is it working?"

"A hypocrite's a funeral director trying to look sad at a $5,000 funeral!" — Dr. Tenyson Guyer, Findlay, Ohio.

Lovely Colleen Miller (a Yakima, Wash., gal) will be 1955's "Big Thing in Hollywood" (following her latest, "Purple Mask"). Curiously, she thinks she's plain!

Darts, anyone? David Whitfield, the sensational young British singer who flew over to go on Ed Sullivan's show for $4,000, brought a dart board — but 'as nobawdy to play with. 'E likes to play for a tuppence or a tuppence, so do call him if you'd like a bit of a do.

Sassiest stuff — The Shah of Iran and Missus lunched at the Colony on smoked salmon (here's wishing 'em Good Luck!) then danced a hot rumba at El Morocco. . . . Sonja Henie loves TV and wants to do more. "I'm gettin' older and I gotta hurry to get everybody to see me," says she. . . . ## Parents Found Dead After Fight Over Boy's Gifts

INDIANAPOLIS (U)—The estranged parents of a 2½-year-old boy were found shot to death yesterday and a neighbor told of an earlier telephone quarrel over money to buy the youngest Christmas presents.

The dead were Frederick Forbis, 40, and Mrs. Nina Forbis, 40, who police said formerly was Forbis' adopted daughter. Police said Forbis divorced Mrs. Ethel Forbis, 45, to marry Nina when she was 19.

Police said the deaths were apparent murder and suicide.

Mrs. Forbis was found dying in her apartment after neighbors heard a shot and the sound of fleeing footsteps. A short time later police were called to Forbis' home about a mile away and found him dead, a .38-caliber revolver beside him.

A neighbor of Mrs. Forbis said she overheard a telephone conversation last Thursday and Friday between Mrs. Forbis and someone she addressed as "Fred."

"She told him she didn't have enough money to give the boy a proper Christmas," said the neighbor, Mrs. Virginia Strack. "Then I think she slammed down the receiver."

The child, Dennis, was away from his mother's apartment at the time of the shooting.

S.W. Conference Fears Wave of Illegal Recruiting

DALLAS (U)—Copies of a 400-word statement that the Southwest Conference's very existence is endangered by a wave of illegal recruiting went out today to alumni groups of the seven member schools.

It was the alumni that the faculty committee, governing body of the conference, hit at mostly in a report on athletic subsidization at its winter meeting over the weekend.

And, it was pointed out, this is the hardest group to control, that while "evidence of such wrongdoing has occurred is too strong to be doubted" the kind of evidence that will stand up in court could not be obtained.

The committee found that valuable gifts to prospective athletes, payment of money and promise of employment to parents in an effort to influence athletic recruiting and efforts to evade the rule in the proper signing of athletes were threatening "the good name" of the conference.

The committee exacted a pledge from each member of the league that it would tighten rules to better control its alumni and other supporters of its athletic teams. The member schools—Texas, Texas A&M, Rice, Arkansas, Baylor, Texas Christian and Southern Methodist — are distributing the statement to the alumni organizations.

Viet Nam Army Asked to Unite Behind New Chief

SAIGON, Viet Nam (U)—Gen. Le Van Ty took over as South Viet Nam's new army chief of staff today as an appeal went out to his 200,000-man army to unite behind Premier Ngo Dinh Diem's anti-Communist government.

The Premier, announcing Ty's acceptance of the appointment yesterday, said he was ready to forgive supporters of Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh, who was fired two weeks ago from the top army post. A two-month feud between the Premier and Hinh had crippled the Vietnamese government badly and stalled defense preparations.

Diem also announced that Gen. Nguyen Van Vy, who had been acting chief of staff since the ouster, had accepted the post of inspector general of the army.

Vy and Ty reportedly accepted their new posts on condition they would have a free hand to choose their own staffs and the Premier would not make reprisals against Hinh's supporters.

Addressing officers who had sided with Hinh in his dispute with the government, the Premier said he had had their good faith abused in his order: "Let us forget the by unscrupulous saboteurs. I am past. A small number among you ready to forgive their errors."

Even Airport Provides Food In Tiny Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (U)—It's well known that the people of tiny Denmark don't waste a tillable acre of their precious farmland, but few passengers at Copenhagen's Kastrup Airport realize they are landing on one of the country's largest farms.

Even the Danes were surprised when Airport Manager Leo Sorensen disclosed he had planted barley, oats, rye and wheat between runways and in the safety zones around the 800-acre government-owned field.

Utilizing 240 acres of the field for farming, his crops this past year sold for 165,000 kroner ($23,925). A profit of about 100,000 kroner ($14,500) went to the national treasury.

Debt Limit Issue Will Rise Again

When Treasury Sec. George M. Humphrey acknowledged Dec. 6 that the Eisenhower administration "cannot balance the budget" for fiscal 1956, he quickly drew blood from Sen. Harry Flood Byrd (D-Va.).

"It is time that the administration and the Congress face up to the reality of our fiscal situation," said Byrd, who will have a lot to say about that situation as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee in the 84th Congress. "This means that we will start the 23rd deficit year in the past 26," he added, pointing out that since deficit spending began "we have increased the federal debt from $16 billion to approximately $280 billion."

Both Byrd and Humphrey are mindful of the fact that the statutory ceiling on the national debt, which was temporarily raised to $281 billion in August, will revert to $275 billion next June 30 unless Congress intervenes. But present prospects of getting under the old ceiling are dim.

Humphrey has already estimated a budgetary deficit of $4.7 billion for the current 1955 fiscal year. And as of Dec. 3, the debt had mounted to $278.3 billion or $3.3 billion more than the permanent ceiling. Moreover, the debt had jumped nearly $4 billion within the first three months after the ceiling was temporarily raised.

Byrd consistently has opposed a permanent increase in the $275 billion limit, and only went along with the temporary $6 billion boost approved in August "with great reluctance." He said Aug. 13 that the "temporary authority to exceed the permanent debt limit should not be renewed. The administration can prepare the next budget (for fiscal 1956) so that renewal will not be necessary. This is what should and must be done."

Rep. Jere Cooper (D-Tenn.), who will head the House Ways and Means Committee said Aug. 16 when the House approved the temporary $6 billion increase that there was "justifiable ground for considerable doubt" about whether the boost really was necessary. But he went on to say it was his "guess that we will find that this increase will become a permanent one." In the House, the Ways and Means unit deals with debt limit legislation.

Lending a note of urgency to the debt debate is the prediction by a number of Democrats that the 84th Congress will deal with some major tax-cutting legislation. Rep. John D. Dingell (D-Mich.) has said he will introduce a bill to provide a $100 increase in personal income tax exemptions. This would mean an annual revenue loss of more than $2 billion.

The Eisenhower administration has been faced with the problem of a rising debt that continually threatens to burst its legal bounds. On June 30, 1953, the national debt subject to the $275 billion legal limit stood at $265.5 billion. The gross public debt, which includes amounts not subject to the debt limit (generally about $500 million), totaled $266 billion. One month later, Pres. Eisenhower asked Congress for a permanent $15 billion boost in the debt ceiling to give the government a "safe working balance." The House approved his request, but the Senate did not act on it in 1953.

By the end of fiscal 1954—June 30, 1954—the debt subject to limitation had risen to $270.8 billion, the gross debt to $271.3 billion. In August, the administration requested a $10 billion hike in the $275 billion debt ceiling, $5 billion of which would have expired June 30, 1955, leaving a permanent legal debt limit of $280 billion. Congress instead granted the temporary $6 billion increase, which meant the administration would have to cope with the same problem of a $275 billion ceiling in 1955.

When he signed the $6 billion debt limit increase bill Aug. 23, Pres. Eisenhower said the government would try to operate under the $281 billion temporary limit although it might "prove inadequate."

At the end of August, the debt subject to limitation amounted to $274.4 billion, while the gross debt totaled $275 billion. The administration Sept. 14 forecast a $274.5 billion gross debt for June 30, 1955. But the Budget Bureau pointed out that "there will be periods during the year when the public debt will be considerably greater than the amount" estimated for the end of fiscal 1955.

Two Talks Make Solid Impression

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
 NEW YORK — I recently listened to two speeches which impressed me profoundly. One was by Prof. Gilbert Highet of Columbia University; the other by Fr. Theodore Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame.

The Highet speech was delivered to a father-son dinner at Columbia which was in itself a novelty for me. In my day, at the same institution, the only relationship that a father had to the university was that he signed his name to the checks, and that he was given two tickets to see his son get a diploma.

The idea of fathers and sons sitting down to turkey and the fixings among deans and other university big shots intrigued me and so I went, anticipating a trying evening. Instead I was delighted by a brilliant address on the pleasures of learning by a Scotsman who apparently has learned everything from Aristotle to the Japanese game of Go.

IN THESE DAYS OF over-specialization, the universalist is rare. Sometimes he is called a humanist which I think is a dastardly word because it makes man the center of the universe, which he cannot be as long as God is. I like the word universalist, as applied to the scholar whose mind is big enough to try to encompass the whole of human knowledge and experience, and whose spirit is so rich that it can impart an enthusiasm among the young to do more than to train for a livelihood.

Perhaps the reason why so many of our so-called great men seem so small, so cowardly at times, is that their reputation for greatness arises from their proficiency in the use of a particular tool.

A man may be chairman of the board of directors of a bank or a general in the army or a successful manufacturer of automobiles or a doctor or lawyer or anything without training his mind to think in universal, philosophic terms. While he can do his job excellently and achieve astonishing success, he may also be as stupid as a backward child about a great historic problem that ultimately can destroy our civilization and therefore him and all his achievements.

It is even difficult for him to understand how narrow his compass is because he is so elevated by his own success in his small world. This Prof. Highet conveyed to the young men when he opened to their view the glories of continuing civilizations and the richness of a life devoted to their understanding.

FATHER HESBURGH WAS addressing a private dinner on the program of changing curricula at Notre Dame where the various colleges are being made over on a theory apparently that an intelligent man can learn how to use tools, but first he needs to be intelligent. It is much easier to turn out a lawyer or an engineer than to fashion the mind of a man so that he understands why he is a lawyer or an engineer. It comes down to the question that runs through all the thinking in the Old Testament—what is man? After all, if man is only a product of the tools he uses to earn his livelihood, Karl Marx was right. But if man is more than that, if he possesses understanding, personality, the capacity to differentiate between right and wrong, then he is a moral creature whose grounding is deep in the philosophy of the Judeo-Christian civilization.

Father Hesburgh did not put it that way but what came to me as he spoke was that Notre Dame is answering the challenge of Marxism, of the pragmatic, atheistic, materialist concepts so current throughout the world that science is the be-all and end-all of human effort, that man can survive as a civilized being without moral consciousness. Science is, after all, a tool, a technique, a method of discovering items in a complicated cosmos. The question is, what does one do with the vast treasury of data that science discloses; how is it all to be related to the life and growth of man?

Philosophy points the way to a synthesis of human knowledge based on morality which is God's richest gift to man. When a university gears its courses to a broader understanding of these problems, it will surely turn out not only skilled manipulators of machines and techniques but intelligent men with some knowledge of the universals of our civilization.

Far-Off Places Suddenly Beckon to Congressmen

By DREW PEARSON
 WASHINGTON—This is the season when congressmen would ajunketing go, and this year they are setting a high-water mark for congressional pilgrimages—11 in all.

Some of these junkets are definitely helpful in getting congressmen oriented regarding the far-flung problems they have to legislate on these days; some are a pure waste of the taxpayers' money.

Most inexcusable trip of the current rash of junkets is being taken by part of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee—supposedly to study the raw material resources for the atom bomb—uranium. Just what a group of fast-flying congressmen, plus two wives and a sister-in-law, will be able to learn about uranium by hitting the high spots of New Zealand, Australia, India, Egypt and Europe is hard to understand.

However, Sen. Bricker of Ohio, Republican, heads this subcommittee, with Cong. Sterling Cole, New York Republican, also along, plus his wife; with Cong. James Van Zandt, Pennsylvania Republican, plus his wife. Cong. Carl Hinshaw of California and Thomas A. Jenkins of Ohio, both Republicans, both without wives, are also along.

The Democrats refused to go. They didn't like the idea of a junket at this particular time, when, they claimed, the Republicans should have given more careful consideration to the Dixon-Yates contract instead of ramming it through, without waiting until Congress is in session as required by law.

Cole Family Travels
 Cong. Cole, who led the drive to okay the Dixon-Yates deal, also has with him, believe it or not, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Francis McAndrews.

Just why Cole's sister-in-law was going on this trip to survey uranium resources, no one at the Atomic Energy Committee could explain — except that she will drop off at Calcutta and will visit only Honolulu, Canton Island, Auckland, Wellington, Christchurch and Sidney.

Cong. Cole has shown a liberal leaning toward getting perquisites from Uncle Sam; even had an antique cabinet repaired in the congressional repair shop at the taxpayers' expense; also an antique organ — courtesy of Uncle Sam.

Also on the South Seas uranium junket are committee staff members George Norris, Walter Hamilton, Edward L. Heller, Col. Edward L. Wilson Jr., representing the Pentagon; George Grey for the State Department; Jess Johnston, AEC director of raw material.

The group is even carrying its own government-paid doctor, Comdr. Harry Elter.

They are traveling in a government plane supplied by the Military Air Transport Command and in some cases are stopping in government quarters at military bases.

Another peculiar series of congressional junkets is to Spain. Of course, sunny Spain is an attractive country this time of year, and we do have some important bases there. But just why three different congressional committees should find it necessary to go there remains a mystery. Also what they can learn there in a few quick days is doubtful.

At any rate, Cong. Victor Wick-ersham, Oklahoma Democrat, and Leon Gavin, Pennsylvania Republican, are on a special armed services team to tour Spain; while a military appropriations subcommittee inspecting Spain includes Glenn Davis of Wisconsin, T. Millett Hand of New Jersey, Clifford Cederberg of Michigan, all Republicans, and John Riley of South Carolina, Democrat.

In addition, a government opera-

Advice on Health

Highstrung Persons Apt To Get Ulcer

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Medical science knows a lot about peptic ulcers. Unfortunately, there is also a lot we doctors still don't know about them.

We know what an ulcer is, and, luckily, we know how to cure it in most cases. But we don't know exactly what causes this ailment, which right now affects somewhere between four and 10 million persons in the United States alone.

In simple terms, an ulcer consists of the loss of the tissue in a small portion of the lining of the membrane of the stomach or the first part of the intestine known as the duodenum.

Usually, a person has only one ulcer. Occasionally, however, someone may have several. An ulcer of the stomach is almost always larger than an ulcer of the bowel, being about an inch across. A duodenal ulcer is usually about half that size.

The Ulcer Type
 Now while we don't know just what causes these ulcers, we have some pretty good theories. They're based on studies of the patients themselves.

Ulcers occur most often in high-strung, nervous persons. The tall, thin serious type is more likely to be stricken with peptic ulcers. Men get them more often than women. An attack may be preceded by emotional excitement.

Gulping food in a hurry is also believed a contributing factor. As a rule, active businessmen under great tension are pretty good candidates for ulcers, especially if they are in the 20 to 40 age bracket. We know, too, that each year more and more people are complaining of them.

All of this would seem to indicate that the emotional and physical strain of modern living has a lot to do with causing peptic ulcers. The weather also apparently has some bearing on the production of ulcers.

Thrive in Cool Weather
 Drs. Maxwell Westman and Russell S. Boles of Philadelphia recently reported that their studies indicated the peak for duodenal ulcers, the most common type, is from October to March. Few persons complained of attacks during the spring or summer.

On the other hand, they found gastric ulcers apparently produced more hemorrhages in January, February, April, May and June.

Ulcers, we believe, may also be caused by disturbances in the circulation to the stomach or bowel, or maybe by an allergy or some sensitivity to certain foods. We know that an excessive secretion of the acid juice factor in producing them. Even after an ulcer has healed, too much gastric juice may cause it to become active again.

But while we can't put our finger on the exact cause of ulcers, we can easily diagnose and treat them. That's the important thing so far as you are concerned.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 M.M.: I have suffered a pain in the left shoulder for some time. About 15 years ago I had an attack of arthritis. Is there any connection between the two?

Answer: It may be that the pain in your shoulder at present is due to arthritis, or inflammation of the shoulder joint.

An X-ray of your shoulder should be taken, and a careful examination made by your physician, so that the cause may be found.

About four times as many men as women die of lung cancer.

Boy Who Deserted U.S. Can't Forget

By DON WHITEHEAD
 (For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Behind the Bamboo Curtain of Red China today there is an American boy who can't forget his home and those he loves.

Richard Tenneson turned his back on his own country, his family and his friends when he walked into the world of the Communists rather than accept repatriation in the exchange of Korean War prisoners.

But the memories still are there. Even now he's haunted by memories of the music of America—melodies which will tear at his heart and conscience as long as he lives, so help him God.

Recently Tenneson wrote his mother in Minnesota asking her to send him sheet music of such sentimental songs as "White Christmas" and "Dear Hearts and Gentle People."

Richard Tenneson is groping for solace in music as our people have for centuries, and as they always will.

Even in war, they found comfort in music.

In North Africa, soldiers gathered around their radios at night and searched the wavelengths until they found the music they wanted. Always it was music. Perhaps it was a French song or an American dance band or their favorite, "Lili Marlene," the German ballad.

Across Italy and France, and Germany the soldiers paused to play the pianos in the battered houses. Sometimes the notes could be heard above the rattle of gunfire in the streets outside.

In Liege, Belgium, the Germans had retreated. The little night club opened its doors for the first time in months. A makeshift Belgian band was trying hard, but it was a pretty dismal effort until the blackout curtains parted and six GIs strode into the room.

The six Americans had the grime of the infantry on them. You knew they were combat men by their young-old faces. They stacked their carbines and went to the bandstand and the Belgians handed them the musical instruments.

They poured out their hearts in music that night, those GIs. They exulted in the wild freedom of jazz and washed away their loneliness in the blues from the bayou country. Then they laid down their instruments, picked up their carbines, and walked into the night where the darkness was broken by the flashes of artillery fire.

I'm sure they were happier because the music had brought them nearer home and the things they would return to in a few more months.

Off the coast of Sicily, the troops filed into the black hold of an invasion ship and clambered into the amphibious trucks which would carry them ashore behind the German lines.

We sat in the blackness, tense and afraid, waiting for H-hour. And then came the thin notes of a harmonica, rising and falling with the bittersweet melody, "Night and Day."

Somewhere in the darkness a youth was voicing all the loneliness, yearning and hope that was inside him. The music made you think of those you loved and of what you would return to someday when this thing was ended.

It seemed as if hundreds of men were holding their breath so they wouldn't miss a single note of the music that came out of the darkness. For a fleeting time they remembered another and better world.

Richard Tenneson will remember top when he hears the music he asked his mother to send him. But if Richard Tenneson has begun to understand the music of America — it won't bring him the solace that came to the men in the invasion ship that night. There will be only emptiness in his heart.

Hotel Stickup Man Spurns $2 'Take'

OMAHA (AP)—Jack C. Walker, clerk at the Congress Hotel, said he gave a stickup man two $1 from the cash register and then opened the safe to show the robber it was empty. The thief, disgusted, handed back the $2, snarled, "It ain't worth it," and fled.

Korean War Called Aid to Chinese Reds

By FRED SAITO

TOKYO (U)—A Japanese technician says the Chinese Communists—those for whom he worked as an adviser—used the Korean War to consolidate their power in China.

Kumajiro Fukuda recently was repatriated from Red China. He told his experiences in an article, "Red China as I Saw It," published in Tairiku Mondai (Continental Problems).

Fukuda went to China in 1916. He was director of Manchurian chemical industries when the Chinese captured him in the port of Dairen at the end of World War II. He was impressed into reconstruction work and helped to build chemical plants over wide areas of China.

Fukuda said the Communist regime in its first year after taking over in 1949 financed its way in part by killing landlords and wealthy merchants and seizing their properties.

His satisfaction mounted all over the country after the first year," he wrote, "and the Communists had to round up many anti-Communists everywhere."

"The Korean War came amid these circumstances and the Communists jumped on it as a chance to consolidate their power."

Fukuda said the Communists financed the war by forcing bonds on Chinese with money and thereby wiped out the wealthy class.

Mao Tse-tung forced through a gigantic purge beginning in January 1952, Fukuda recalled. The people were told to act as informers on anyone suspicious.

"An untold number of people were arrested and executed in six months in people's courts," Fukuda wrote. "There were no defense lawyers, no written laws."

Fukuda said the terror regime was succeeding. Every Chinese must work eight hours a day, attend school classes three to four hours a day and recite Communist catechisms until they are exhausted.

Fukuda said Mao Tse-tung, however, still was widely respected for the Chinese people believe he is the first Chinese to make the nation "independent" in many years.

2 'Good Friends' Finish Job of Shooting Parolee

NEW YORK (U)—A parolee burglar who last year was shot up by "two good friends" was found fatally shot on a Brooklyn street yesterday.

Police said they believe Michael Russo, 38, was again the victim of the two men, who returned to finish the job.

The two, identified by police as Philip Rastelli, 36, of Queens, and Ralph Santora, 29, of Brooklyn, had been at large since the first shooting.

Russo was found on a sidewalk in the Bath Beach section of Brooklyn with a bullet in the back of his head. He died in Coney Island Hospital.

Police said that on Dec. 3 last year Russo was found near Calvary Cemetery in Queens with four bullet wounds. After he recovered, he told police that his "two good friends" had driven him to the lonely place, ordered him out and then pumped four bullets into him. Russo had served time for burglary and unlawful possession of guns, police said.

Rastelli and Santora, who were indicted for the first shooting, have long police records.

Paul La Palme of the Pittsburgh Pirates has an odd hobby. He makes gun stocks.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Duckless Season
Each fall at the close of the waterfowl season, most hunters take stock of their experience. Some count the ducks they killed during the season and try to figure out how much each bird cost them. Rarely a hunter, new in the sport, makes a confession like the one who wrote the following article did: It is being republished from the outdoor section of the Milwaukee Journal. We think you will enjoy it:

You've heard a lot about hunting by experts—about how the ducks wheeled in and we knocked down the whole flight and our trusty dog splashed out to retrieve them, and all that. Now read the confessions of an average, nonexpert type hunter.

I have been hunting at every opportunity for two years.

I haven't killed anything. I have gotten up in the gloomy middle of the night to wait in line for a goose blind at Horicon. I have shivered in knee deep water for a day at a time. I have rowed a heavy boat for miles when the motor failed. I have waded through swamps that would have daunted a pioneer.

I have hunted ducks, geese, pheasants, partridge and rabbits. At one time or another I have shot at most of these things.

But I haven't brought anything back except empty shotgun shells. My 7-year-old son has the finest collection of these in the neighborhood.

For one thing, the weather is against me. I'm not one who can pick his days to go hunting, and every time I get up there the sun is shining and the butterflies flying. The ducks are not.

I read about how there are 800,000 ducks and two million geese on the marsh. I believe these figures because I have driven through the parts where you can't shoot, and there are a lot of birds. But when I am crouching with my gun—none.

Geese are the worst. I have developed a hatred for those big black birds. They're too smart. I have listened to their squawking until I can hardly stand it. I have watched them wheel over until they are just outside shotgun range and then turn back, and do it over and over again.

I had two shots at geese this year, and I guess I'm not a very good shot. I emptied the gun at one of them and nothing happened. Once I hit one. The bird started to fall like a sack of potatoes, but just before he hit the ground he spread his wings and sailed off into the marsh, out beyond the retrieving line.

That same day I shot at a fox and I am sure I hit him. But I couldn't find him and just got wet and tired out looking for him. My hunting partner shot a duck that day, too, but it fell in a swampy place and we looked for half an hour and couldn't find it.

One day last year was an exception—a cold, nasty, foggy day when you would think all the ducks in the marsh would fly. And they did, but not until we had stood all day in the blind and the time had run out. Right after closing time they flew all over us, pretty nearly knocking out hats off.

I have shot at ducks this year and knocked feathers off them but except for one of them, they didn't fall down. The one that came down was on the state end of the Horicon marsh where I was standing in hip boots in a swamp.

I hit this duck and he came down in a glide. I fired again as he came in and again just before he splashed in the water 20 yards behind me. Then I got out through the swamp, determined to get that duck even though the water was deeper than my boots.

I got to within 10 feet of that duck and he started to fly. What a feeling that is, to see one that close and nothing you can do about it! I tried to club him with the gun but he was just out of range.

Anyway, I learned something. Reload the gun right away.

It is true that there are too many hunters up at Horicon, and I wish that some of the others would stay home. Several times I hit ducks but before they came down four other hunters had shot at them. I went over to argue about whose bird one of these was but found that two other hunters already were in an argument over the same bird, so I gave up.

There were so many hunters up there that one day a fellow down the swamp yelled to his partner: "Did you find that duck, Dick?"

"No," said Dick, who was out in front.

"Yes," said another Dick in back of me.

There are rewarding things about it, though. I know a lot about that old marsh up there. I know which public blinds are wet in wet weather and which ones have seats in them and which ones are closest to the road and things like that.

I know three routes into the swamp where I almost got a duck. I know where to rent boats and how much they cost, what it looks like up Clark's ditch and how deep the water is in various places where I went in over my boots. And I've breathed in a lot of fresh air. And maybe next year I'll get a duck. I'll be there.

Winona's Newest Railroad

Bridging Operations comes to a momentary standstill for these two members of the Winona Society of Model Railroad Engineers while a fast freight passes beneath the bridge. Construction and installation of the bridges, like all the work involved in the 400-foot pike, is tedious and time consuming as everything is scaled at a quarter of an inch per foot of actual railroad equipment. Winona residents will be able to see the pike and its "rolling stock" in operation during an open house Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. In the picture are Donald Bauer, left, and Frank Whetstone. (Daily News photo)

By ROBERT EGGLESON
Daily News Staff Writer

If all the letters boys have written to Santa Claus could be checked to determine the most popular single toy, a composite all-time letter to St. Nick might read:

"Dear Santa, please bring me a train that will run by itself."

This Christmas every boy who wants a train won't get one, but all of them will have an opportunity to at least look at one. It's a grand one, too, much more elaborate than he could hope for.

Charter member of the Winona Society of Model Railroad Engineers have been working eight months to assemble 400 feet of scale tracks and rolling stock, and now they want to share their work with the youngsters (and adults). The "engineers" are interrupting their work for a special showing.

Open House Set

The open house will be held at the home of Winona's newest (but as yet nameless) railroad in the third story of the Holden Drug Co. building, 953 W. 5th St., from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The club asks that parents accompany their youngsters. For the seven men who have begun the model railroad layout, "train time" continues 365 days a year. They first organized in April, and as yet, they've been so busy assembling the double "dog bone" layout, they haven't taken time to elect officers.

The track, engines and cars, along with the endless detail features they plan to add in the future (including buildings and landscaping) are in the "gauge," which is a scale of one-fourth of an inch per foot.

The organization now owns 3.6 miles of track (4,800 inches), has laid 9,600 railroad ties (which, in actual railroading are 9 by 9 inches by 9 feet) and now have in operation the largest model layout in Southern Minnesota and perhaps the largest in the state with the exception of the model in the Union Depot, St. Paul.

58 Feet Long

The over-all length of the layout is 58 feet, with the ends of the "dog bones" (figure 8s) measuring 12 feet in diameter. The bench work (base of the track) is 40 inches above the floor, with a single track on the side of one of the dog bones 10 inches higher. The grades are standard railroad 2 per cent inclines.

Although the scaling of each part and detail may seem difficult, the work of electricians is as complex as the control panel of a pin ball machine. The trains operate on direct current and there are only two tracks. One of the wheels of each car is insulated, so that complete circuits are achieved only through the power units. The controls provide negative current in one track and positive current in the other. A flick of a switch and the currents reverse, sending the train in the opposite direction. Speed is governed by rheostats and by the worm gear ratios in the power units.

Just a casual look at one of the engines will convince anyone that the models are far from toys. The most powerful engine is a model diesel that weighs eight pounds. Most of the engines and cars are made of brass, with wood and plastic trim. The wheel assemblies vary in detail, with some of the trucks including tiny springs, in replica of the real railroad rolling stock. And like the cars that are familiar in Winona, they sway slightly to complete the realism.

Odds and Ends Used
One of the most vivid model engines is a scale model steam locomotive constructed entirely from "1s and ends" by John McCormick, one of the charter members of the club. Many of the other engines and cars have been assembled by members from kits that require long hours for assembly and offer endless opportunity for addition of intricate details that add to the life-like appearance.

The rolling stock of the club (all of which is owned by individual members) consists of about 20 cars and seven locomotives of various styles. All will be on display during the open house although several are at present under construction.

The group of ambitious Winona hobbyists has spared no effort to achieve realism. Rather than purchase 3-foot sections of track,

William F. Holden, right, works on one of the 25 switches of the "O" gauge model railroad under construction by the seven charter members of the Winona Society of Model Railroad Engineers. On the track behind the switch (partially hidden by Holden's hand) is a model locomotive he is constructing. Looking on is Robert Erdmann, another member of the organization. (Daily News photo) every inch of the pike has been constructed by hand. Single lengths of rail are used throughout and the process of construction begins with the pine board base on the bench work. Atop that is a half-inch layer of pressed wood and then a quarter-inch flat of wall-board. The 9,400 tiny ties were glued to this surface before the two rails were mounted with miniature spikes.

Realistic surfacing consists of sawdust that club members impregnated with sand-colored paint, giving the appearance of a standard roadbed.

25 Switches

The pike includes 25 switches constructed by the club and one double cross-over or scissors switch that was built from a kit. There is no doubt that the pike in its present form will amaze even the most disinterested persons, but the club members are looking to the future when the pike will "serve" a large industrial area at the south end of the room. The north end will be devoted to a railroad yard.

McCormick has constructed a roundhouse style turntable that will some day be powered and remotely controlled and a coaling station for the yards. And the club also is working on a number of bridges of various types each built to true railroad scales that will be placed over rivers, ravines overpasses and other places where they are warranted. Remote control of sections of the track also is in the future so that individual trains—not tracks—may be controlled. (This will be particularly valuable in switching operations.)

Weekly Meetings

Affiliated with the National Model Railroad Association, the club meets regularly on Thursday nights, but during the pre-open house period, most of the members have been spending two or three nights a week making preparations. They pay weekly dues to buy supplies and necessary equipment, although most of their tools were purchased for use on the pikes in their homes or are used in their occupations. All of the members have railroads at home, but most of them have been at a standstill since April. Their time, and finances through club assessments, have been "sidetracked" to the collective club effort. The pike (not including rolling stock) has a value of about $200.

The seven charter members of the society are Donald Bauer, 1152 W. 5th St.; Robert Erdmann, 407 W. Sanborn St.; William F. Holden, 773 Terrace Lane; Wallace Knight, 220 Mechanic St.; Fred Leighton, 222 Cummings St.; John E. McCormick, 1278 W. 3rd St., and Frank Whetstone, 1026 W. Wabasha St.

That roast of beef for Sunday dinner will be extra delicious if you rub it with rosemary seasoning before you put it in the oven.

Christmas Won't Amount to Much In Red Europe

VIENNA (AP)—Christmas will not amount to much for 70 millions in Communist East Europe this year. Communism supposedly has let up a little in its persecution of the church and there are supposed to be more luxury goods available in the state-run stores. But all indications from the Communist press are that Russia's Communist satellites are going ahead with long-range plans to eliminate Christmas entirely.

In the schools of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria, the children are being taught their parents are wrong. The Red star of Communism, not the Star of Bethlehem, is the important thing.

Family celebrations of Christmas are being discouraged. There will be fir trees in the streets of Warsaw, Prague and Budapest, but they will be known as "New Year's trees," or "winter trees."

There will be parties for the kids in schools and in the halls of Communist organizations. But they will be held around Jan. 1. In them, the children will see films about the Soviet Union and puppet shows in which American soldiers and bankers are the "bogymen." There will be special holiday radio programs for children but mostly devoted to the Communist concepts of "peace and friendship."

The exchange of gifts is being frowned on. Gifts, said a Polish newspaper, are "decadent capitalism." Czech mothers have been advised not to send packages to their soldier sons. "They have already enough to eat and packages will only spoil them," said the newspaper Odbor.

In the last 50 years, the amount of carbon dioxide in the earth's atmosphere has increased about 10 per cent.

Boys Imprisoned 26 Hours in Chest

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—John Madison, 11, and John Lasofsky, 6, were imprisoned for 26 hours in subfreezing weather in a big tool chest before their pounding was heard yesterday and they were rescued. The lid fell and latched after they entered the chest. Neither required medical treatment.

$10,000 Suit Filed For Falling Hair

SALISBURY, Md. (U)—Since April 1953, says Mrs. Maude B. Floyd, she has been almost bald. And she doesn't like it.

Mrs. Floyd has sued the Read Drug and Chemical Co. of Baltimore for $10,000. She charged that a saleswoman in the firm's Easton store, through "carelessness and negligence," sold her a home permanent preparation which made her hair fall out.

She said the clerk assured her daughter that the preparation was a "home permanent for bleached hair." But as soon as she used it, Mrs. Floyd said in her declaration filed with the Wicomico County Circuit Court Saturday, her hair fell out.

Examination of the bottle disclosed instructions not to use "if your hair is bleached, dyed or tinted," the suit said.

8,000 Comic Books Go Up in Flames

VANCOUVER, B. C. (U)—More than 8,000 comic books went up in flames in a weekend civic demonstration against the crime and horror types. The Junior Chamber of Commerce offered a historical, animal or nature lore book for every 10 crime or horror "comics" turned in at a downtown park.

Florida Motor Court Price War Scheduled

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (U)—A motor court price war — with rooms free — begins tomorrow unless all operators here along U.S. 1 take down price signs.

J. E. Freeman, president of the Daytona Area U.S. Highway 1 Assn., reported 40 of the 90 courts between Ormond Beach and South Daytona have pledged to rent their cottages free.

"We'll continue to do so until every price sign is taken down," he added.

U. of Wisconsin OKs Construction Totalling $2 Million

MILWAUKEE (U)—The University of Wisconsin board of regents has approved two million dollars worth of construction at the University of Wisconsin in Milwaukee and wants it done "with the least possible delay."

At a meeting here Saturday the regents approved a new $1,713,600 west wing at the UWM. They also reaffirmed an earlier recommendation for a $400,000 addition of fifth and sixth floors to the present administration building.

The institution, now offering two years of undergraduate work, would become a complete four-year university under terms of an expansion program approved recently by the regents.

The regents said the new construction would help make room for the students expected when the school becomes a complete four-year institution.

The building recommendations will be presented to the 1955 Legislature.

Rome Becoming Europe's Hollywood

ROME (U)—Rome is rapidly becoming the Hollywood of Europe but Hollywood U.S.A. is making money in Italy.

The situation is "unique in the world," says Eitel Monaco, president of the Italian Motion Pictures Assn. He explains:

Hollywood U.S.A. is sending over fewer pictures yet "American distributing companies doing business in Italy are making more money than ever before." Box office receipts for American films rose from 48 million dollars in 1949 to 84 millions in 1954. In 1953 Hollywood producers took 15 millions out of Italy in net exportable earnings, an increase of five millions over 1949.

Movies have attracted an estimated 600 million people in Italy this year compared to 600 million in 1949.

The Italian industry, now turning out 160 films a year, is becoming an important factor in the country's economy.

This year Italian pictures are netting 10 million dollars in foreign revenue—compared to two millions five years ago.

Half-Million Catholics Visit Virgin's Shrine

MEXICO CITY (U)—About half a million Catholics visited the Basilica of the Virgin of Guadalupe, patron saint of Mexico, yesterday in observance of the church-recognized miracle of the Virgin Mary's appearance in this country in 1531.

It was the third largest turnout in history for Mexico's most important religious day. The crowd was so large there were two deaths and 398 injuries.

Stevenson
Relaxed
Politician

By STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON — Adlai E. Stevenson, according to those who have seen him at close quarters recently, is a thoroughly relaxed politician — surprisingly relaxed, for a man so given to agonizing over difficult decisions.

His friends have a simple explanation for Stevenson's untense attitude. Stevenson, they say, has concluded that the difficult decision which faces him — whether to try again in 1956 — is largely out of his hands. Moreover, he quite genuinely does not greatly care which way the decision goes. This attitude springs, in turn, from Stevenson's analysis of the political situation.

In the first place, the Democratic leader has told friends that he is assuming that President Eisenhower will run again. Some of those around him think — perhaps wisely — that Eisenhower will bow out. That point to the bad trouble which Eisenhower will surely have in the next two years, and to the evidence that both the President and especially Mrs. Eisenhower want a few years of untroubled rest.

Pressure on Ike
But it is obvious that the pressure on Eisenhower to run will be extraordinarily heavy in 1956, if only because the Republican party looks more and more as though it would come apart at the seams if he withdrew. Stevenson accepts the majority view — that this pressure will be so heavy that Eisenhower cannot possibly resist it.

In the second place, unlike some wishful Democrats, Stevenson acknowledges that Eisenhower is still remarkably popular. He has told friends that Eisenhower could beat any Democratic candidate as of today — and he made no exceptions. Moreover, bar a depression, terrible trouble abroad, or the total, visible disintegration of the Republican party, Eisenhower is likely to remain a most formidable candidate two years from now — perhaps still an unbeatable candidate.

In this situation — or so his friends purport to believe — Stevenson would not be unhappy to sit this one out. He has not said so in so many words. But his attitude suggests that he will not object strongly if some one else takes on the job of being Eisenhower's sacrificial lamb. Stevenson is only fifty-four, his friends point out, and he might do far better to wait until 1960.

This, it should be said, is the relaxed Stevensonian attitude toward 1956 as interpreted by his friends. Those who are not his friends — notably some of those close to former President Truman — say in effect that this apparent indifference to 1956 is all a cleverly contrived front.

Cite Butler Election
They point to the election of Paul Butler of Indiana as national Democratic chairman. This, they claim, was a brilliantly executed coup by Stevenson. The election of Butler was supposedly managed by former chairman Stephen Mitchell. Truman openly opposed Butler, while Stevenson remained, ostensibly, above the battle. But according to some Trumanites — who are in a less forgiving mood than the former President himself — Stevenson actually masterminded the whole operation, including the deal to get southern support for Butler by dropping the loyalty oath.

At any rate, Butler's election showed who is really boss in the Democratic party, and gave Stevenson a big lesson in 1956. This was accomplished without directly committing Stevenson, and without a break with Truman. As one member of the anti-Stevenson underground remarked, "You've got to hand it to the guy."

In the same way, two contrasting versions of Stevenson's widely advertised withdrawal from political activity are being put forward. The anti-Stevensonites say it is simply smart politics, since it will make front-runner Stevenson less vulnerable. Friends of Stevenson have another explanation —

CROSS ONLY ON PROPER SIGNAL

Whenever you must walk across a street where there is a traffic light, always wait for the green light or the "Walk" signal if there is one. Pedestrians who cross against the signal place themselves in great danger. Walking or driving, do your part to make S-D Day the safest day of the year.

tion — that he badly needs the money his law practice will bring him.

It has been costing Stevenson upwards of $25,000 a year — all outgo and no income to maintain his Chicago office. In the next 12 months, in partnership with the brilliant younger lawyer, William Wirtz, Stevenson hopes to recoup this loss. He already has several lucrative clients — notably the giant (and political controversial) Radio Corporation of America.

Thus two pictures emerge — of Stevenson scheming for the nomination, and of Stevenson the private citizen intent on recouping his personal fortunes and indifferent to politics. Seriously enough, both pictures are probably fairly accurate.

In short, Stevenson really does have strong doubts about the wisdom of taking on Eisenhower a second time. As of today, he really would not be heartbroken if the nomination went to another. But he wants to be in the best possible situation to get the nomination if he decides he wants it. And he knows he cannot possibly duck the nomination if the party wants him. This rather complex interpretation of Stevenson's motives and intentions seems in character, for the Democratic leader is not a simple man.

Missing Jap Red
Leaders in China

TOKYO (AP)—The two top leaders of the Japanese Communist party, missing four years, are in Red China, Kyodo News Service reported today.

The agency identified them as Sanzo Nosaka and his No. 2 man, Kyuichi Tokuda.

They disappeared with seven other Communist leaders after 24 party members were purged on orders of the occupation in June 1950.

Two of the seven—Shoichi Kasuga and San-Eki Matsumoto—subsequently were arrested. Kyodo said the Tokyo Metropolitan Police Board is convinced the remaining five still are in Japan.

Needs of Teen-ager Discussed by Rev. Harold Dittman

"The need for security becomes a basic factor in the life of a teen-ager as with growth he finds all of his needs are not satisfied in the home and he becomes aware of the conflict between his desire to satisfy his needs and the world around him," the Rev. Harold Dittman pointed out in his talk before the AAUW adolescent-age study group at the YMCA Wednesday afternoon.

After three years of experience with high school students, he said, he felt he did not know the answers as well as the parents knew them but he did think it was important to recognize the teen-agers needs and wants.

He continued, "Uncertainty develops, and is probably a basic factor in wrongdoing. They seek emotional security, the lack of which is evident in the extremes of joy and hurt the teen-ager experiences. Intellectual security develops as they gain confidence through knowledge and through making their own decisions.

"The process of growing up is the process of developing independence from birth on. When a child comes into his teens he begins to take less for granted from those upon whom he formerly depended and expects to do more for himself. New experiences are necessary in this process, so he starts to experiment. Fads, thrill-seeking activities, athletics and even reckless driving are for him experimental. Movies provide an opportunity for vicarious experimentation.

"He wants to do more things with others his own age—to participate and share in their experiences. He wants to be considered a person in his own right—to have status and integrity. He wants recognition and praise. He is idealistic and progresses from personal hero worship to more generally inclusive ideals.

"Most teen-agers want and need these things in varying degrees but he has a natural resistance to authority and the parent must look for the means to help the young adult satisfy these needs in acceptable fashion."

Fr. Dittman listed some of the attributes of a good home for teen-agers: Minimum amount of friction, opportunity to use home for legitimate desires, minimum amount of arbitrary discipline, opportunity for independence of thought, feeling and action, family conferences to meet situations, confidence and respect for parents, companionship, emotional stability, economic adequacy and wholesome moral and religious environment.

"Every child," he continued, "must have sex education which does not only mean knowledge but more importantly a healthy basic attitude toward sex which is molded primarily in the home.

"School should be a second home but it must not take children away from the parental home too often. Beside teaching it augments the home with guidance work and can through group action of the parents, help to control social pressures on the pupils.

"Winona has fine recreational facilities for teen-agers. There could be more emphasis on a program for post-high school adults who even though economically independent, seek companionship in their own age group.

Summing up, Fr. Dittman stressed love with understanding as the most important factor in parent-child relationship. He felt parents had "every reason to love and watch teen-agers and every day there are changes and growth and it is an exciting period."

Keep in Trim

Former 5' by 5' Triumphs Over Extra Pounds

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Enthusiasm for dieting is strong at the beginning but wanes unless interest is rekindled now and again. There is no better day than Monday to pass along a report from a dieter who is carrying on successfully. As you read today's exultant letter from a Michigan 49er, bear in mind that she has been overweight all her life.

"I want to tell you readers how wonderful it feels to be losing weight. It is such a relief to be able to move around and do my work without puffing like a locomotive.

"This summer I had to go south to help my daughter-in-law over confinement. With two active grandchildren to take care of and with a complete change of climate I started to reduce. In two months I found I had lost nearly 18 pounds, and all in the world I did was eat sensibly, as you advocate. I do not feel I deprived myself, as there always was ample to eat.

"Is it ever fun to try on clothes that are now too big?—Clothes that once looked so stuffy! Last year at this time I was a large 24½ and I am now size 22½. I'll be down to size 18 ere the winter is over. I think it is a safe figure to drive at, don't you? I am 5 foot 2 inches—they used to call me "Mrs. Five by Five."

"Would you please send me some menus so that we may add a bit of variety to our daily diet? I would appreciate it so much, as I need ideas. Believe me, I am glad to say that your scientific way of reducing is the only safe way. I know now that if people really mean to reduce, they will. Each person is the "Captain of his own fate."

"I forgot to tell you that I am an old lady of 49 years and that I have been fat all my life, so this reducing seems pretty wonderful to me. It has made a great hit with my husband, too. I think the big lug is falling for me all over again.

"I have read your column for so long that I seem to feel you are a good friend of mine. Thanks again, for everything."

Heartily congratulations to this enthusiastic reducer. With a change in her routine she was able to start reducing, and is carrying on wisely she is concentrating on making the low calorie meals attractive and varied. The "Take Your Choice Diet" is a pattern of eating that allows for a choice of foods within low calorie limits. This gives dietary know-how and banishes resistance to diet. The "Scientific Wonder Diet" offers planned meals.

For these two leaflets, send long, self-addressed stamped envelope and ask for "Take Your Choice Diet" and "Scientific Wonder Diet." Address request to Ida Jean Kain in care of The Winona Daily News.

Underground Lines Diagram Valuable

A diagram showing the location of the underground lines for water supply, waste disposal and gas is a great convenience, especially when it is necessary to make changes or repairs, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau points out.

When a new house is being built, and before the workmen leave the premises, it is advisable for the owner to have a plot plan made showing the location of all of the various pipe lines, the Bureau advises.

The plan should then be photographed or photographed and the original print stored in the owner's safe deposit box along with other valuable papers. A copy may be posted in the basement or utility room.

Many years hence, when pipe lines may need attention, the owner will bless his wisdom in having provided a plot plan because it will prevent the necessity for digging hither and yon in the lawn and driveway to find the water service line, the sewer, or the gas service line.

The plot plan is also valuable as a guide to where and where not to plant trees with fibrous roots which tend to seek vulnerable joints in the sewer lines.

Squeaking Floors—How to Repair Them

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

Squeaking floors are one of the most common problems in houses. They are almost always caused by the loosening of nails that hold the subflooring to the joists. Shrinkage and drying out of the lumber causes the nails to loosen.

Squeaks in a first floor are often the easiest to get rid of. A floor over a plastered ceiling offers more of a problem.

When a first floor is over a basement or crawl space, with the underside of the floor structure exposed to view, you can get under it and watch for movement in the boards while someone steps back and forth on the squeaky place.

When the space between the faulty board and the joist is only paper thin, a few finishing nails may stop the squeak. Drive these nails at slight angles through the finish flooring, sub-flooring and down into the joist.

Use a nail set for the last blow to avoid marring the floor. Or an adequately long wood screw may do the trick, in which case it's wise to countersink the screw head far enough to allow for a wood plug on top of it to have the appearance of the floor.

Where a joist or subfloor has warped and there is a noticeable space between them at the squeaking point, a wedge such as the thin end of a wood shingle, may be driven between them. Nails are then driven down through the floor to hold the wedges in place.

Resin-coated finishing nails or casing nails, about two inches long, are best for this use. At least two nails driven at different angles are needed for each squeaking point. Nail holes left by the nailset can be filled with wood putty or wood filler.

Another Method
Another way to bring a floor down tightly is to nail a strip of hardwood to the top edge of a joist and then drive screws up through this into the subfloor to pull the boards down. Use screws only long enough to go through the strip and well into the subfloor without going through the finish flooring above.

Over a plastered ceiling it is difficult to locate the spacing and direction of joists. One way to do it is to tap gently on the ceiling with your knuckles. Spaces between joists will ring hollow. Joists will sound solid. When you locate a solid strip, indicating a joist, measure the distance from the nearest outer wall, which will be in the same place upstairs. Then you can usually figure that the joists are spaced 16 inches on centers and so you can determine the joist located under the squeak.

Nails and screws through the flooring are about all you can rely on upstairs.

Without Lifting
Since hardwood finish flooring covers the original nails that hold subflooring to joists, you may be able to remedy mild squeaks by forcing the floor down without additional nails. To do this, take up the rug or carpet, place several layers of old newspapers or old carpeting on the floor for a pad, put a block on top of this and pound the block vigorously.

Another stop gap for mild squeaks is to puff talcum powder into cracks between floor boards. This lubricates the rubbing points and silences the squeak without stopping the movement. Some people suggest powdered graphite, which is used for automobile locks. But graphite is black and messy and will not enhance the appearance of a hardwood floor.

Talcum Powder or powdered graphite puffed into cracks sometimes silences mild squeaks in a floor.

Squeaks At several points can be combated by nailing a hardwood strip to a joist with screws up into floor.

Don't Need Check Valve On Home Water Heater Now, Inspector Says

Installation of check valves on domestic water heaters is no longer required, City Plumbing Inspector George Jessen reminded plumbers today.

The change in the regulations was approved by the Board of Municipal Works last week.

Jessen, who recommended the change to the board as a safety measure, noted that the Minnesota Plumbing Code does not require installation of check valves on the home systems.

He described the installation of check valves on domestic water heaters "dangerous," explaining that the relief valve does not operate often enough and that the low pressure and high pressure boiler services should be checked to eliminate the possibility of contamination and back pressure.

FHA Ruling Permits Windowless Bathroom

A recent FHA ruling now makes it easier for homeowners and prospective buyers to install extra bathrooms, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau says.

The new ruling permits installation of inside or "windowless" bathrooms.

Previously, FHA had stipulated that in order for a home to qualify for a government-insured mortgage its bathrooms must be ventilated with windows.

For an inside bathroom, ventilation can be taken care of by an exhaust fan which is vented to the outside. The fan is usually far more effective in removing moisture and odors than even an open window.

An inside bathroom can be kept warmer with less heat, and it can be adequately lighted artificially with complete privacy due to the lack of a window. An inside location also eliminates the undesirable feature common to many outside bathrooms of having the window located over the bathtub.

By 1955, the United States will have 81 million motor vehicles, it is estimated by the Automobile Club of New York.

You Can Make a Special Yuletide Tree Tablecloth

A Dark Green Christmas tablecloth with white yarn trees.

Close-Up of yarn stitching.

Pattern is made in squares.

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer

A special tablecloth for the holiday season may be made in a jiffy, used during Yuletide and put away again for another year, although it is conservative enough for any time use. You can use an inexpensive ready-made plain cloth and napkins or make your own of dark green or red fabric.

A smart modern tree decoration may be added by sewing over white yarn on your sewing machine.

You'll need a dark tablecloth about 52 by 52 inches, white yarn and thread.

Mark a line 11 inches from each edge of the tablecloth, leaving a 30-inch square in center.

Draw a tree design in each corner of the square by using a pattern made of 1-inch squares. When using the decorative stitch attachment, stitch over the white yarn with contrasting thread. Let the yarn fall in a figure eight to form the curved ends of the tree branches.

When the four trees have been made—one at each corner of the tablecloth—stitch the yarn over the line you marked to form the square.

A smaller tree may be made in the corner of each napkin.

HOME REPAIR DOs - DON'Ts

By Andrew C. Long

DO . . . select the proper kind of calking compound . . . gun grade for application with a calking gun, knife grade for application with a putty knife or trowel.

DO . . . note that the nozzles of guns and tubes are beveled so calking can be done at a 45-degree angle for best results.

DO . . . apply calking only after all loose material is removed from the opening to be filled.

DO . . . remember, while calking compound can be painted before it is dry, it is much easier if you wait a day or two to give the paint a firmer surface.

DO . . . talk around water and gas pipes at the points where they pass into the house through walls.

DO . . . follow the bevel on the nozzle of the calking gun.

DON'T . . . forget that, while white, gray and other light-colored calking compounds take paint very well, the black type is not meant to be painted.

DON'T . . . think that calking is unnecessary on a fairly new house; settling and shrinkage often cause small openings at joints.

DON'T . . . overlook the use of calking compound as a filler for wood seams which are exposed to the elements.

DON'T . . . apply calking material to a damp surface or when the temperature is below 50.

CLOGGED SEWER LINES

Available for use in sewer lines clogged with roots is a chemical product which kills the roots without damaging trees or shrubs, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. The root-destroyer may be obtained from plumbing dealers who will offer suggestions on how it can be used with perfect safety.

CLOSING HOME?

When you close your house for the winter to head south, it's a good idea to call the plumbing contractor and have him drain the water from lavatory, sink and toilet traps, replacing it with kerosene, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau explains. Upon returning, the kerosene can be safely flushed out through a septic tank disposal system, without disturbing bacterial action to any significant degree. However, just to make certain bacterial action continues without interruption, it is advisable to flush half a pound of yeast through one of the toilets in the house after all traps have been cleared of kerosene.

Many of the deserts of North Africa were once thick forest, says the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

Winona Firm Gets Luther Contract

DECORAH, Iowa — The Johnson Construction Co., Winona, has been awarded a $398,144 general construction contract for a new $600,000 men's dormitory at Luther College.

A government loan of $585,000 will finance the major cost of the new structure. The contracts promise the completion of the west wing by September 1955 and the entire building by January 1956.

The 3-story dormitory will house 233 men students. It will have built-in beds, dressers, desks and storage space which are included in the general contract bid. The remainder of the furnishings, necessary landscaping and walks will be financed by sources other than the government loan.

The dormitory will be known as the Oscar L. Olson Hall. It will honor the president emeritus who has served the college for more than 50 years as a teacher and as president for 12 years, 1921-1932.

Beloit College Chapel Dedicated

BELOIT, Wis. (AP)—Beloit College's new Edward Dwight Eaton Chapel was dedicated Sunday, exactly one year after the original chapel almost was destroyed by fire.

The main speaker at the dedication, held in the new chapel, was Dr. F. S. C. Northrop, Beloit graduate who is professor of philosophy and law at Yale University.

Dr. Northrop said if civilization is to survive the atomic age it must have an effective international code of laws built upon men's understanding of which can be found only in religion.

He said that "because Christian religious beliefs are those of but a minority of the world's people, international law must be rooted in the living beliefs of all the religions of the world."

The new chapel seats 1,200 persons compared to 750 in the old building. Damage in the fire a year ago was estimated at $250,000.

Dedication of Aldrich Hall for women preceded the afternoon dedication of the new chapel.

Teen-ager Sets Fire, Parents Burn to Death

HAVERHILL, Mass. (AP)—A 17-year-old teen-ager today charged with first degree murder and manslaughter in the death of his parents and two other persons in a flaming downtown apartment house.

Police Inspector Charles F. Turner said Richard E. La Plante, 16, admitted setting the early morning fire yesterday because "I didn't like the place and I told my folks so many times."

Burned to death as fire swept the four-story brick and wood apartment house were Alfred La Plante, 45, his wife Eva, 43; Fred Bacigalupo, 63; and Mahlon Cutler, 44. Some 20 others, mostly old age pensioners, fled to safety.

VFW Sponsoring Calls to Santa

By RICHARD J. SINNOTT

WEST LEBANON, N. H. (AP)—"Hello, Santa, can you hear me? Thanks for all the gifts last year. Now this year . . ."

From now until Christmas, telephone operators all over the country will be channeling "calls for Santa Claus" to big-hearted Joseph Schanber at his home here. This is the sixth consecutive year that the 37-year-old Veterans Administration clerk has taken over the role of "St. Nick."

From 6 until 9 p.m., EST, children can call the "North Pole" just by telling the telephone operator "I want to talk to Santa Claus at West Lebanon, N. H."

The operator will put through the call, providing Mommy or Daddy pays the toll charge.

The 5-foot-6, 125-pound Schanber volunteered to be Santa in 1948 when the nearby White River Junction, Vt., VFW post decided youngsters should have an opportunity to phone Christmas requests.

This year three VFW posts are sponsoring the venture. The telephone company has installed a special switchboard.

Last year 3,500 youngsters called Schanber. This year he expects twice as many calls. His wife Frances, 44, and four neighborhood children—his "helpers"—assist him.

Youngsters calling Schanber receive the full "Santa workshop" treatment. Santa's cheery voice greets them; a music box plays; reindeer bells tinkle, and a 100-year-old bell peals.

Some parents write Schanber in advance so when the youngster calls Santa he is either congratulated or admonished regarding his pre-Yuletide behavior.

Fisherman Recovers His Favorite Plug

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A. A. Jones was mighty disappointed when a fish broke his line and swam off with his favorite plug Saturday. Yesterday he hooked a six-pound bass, reeled it in and found the missing plug in its mouth.

'Lost' American Yacht Turns Up

HONOLULU (AP)—Amazed to hear they had been reported missing on their 49-day sailing to Japan, Dr. Earl L. Reynolds and his family are so pleased over the trip that they plan to continue around the world.

The 44-year-old U. S. atomic scientist had never sailed in deep water before he set out from Takamatsu, Japan, Oct. 22 in the 50-foot yacht Phoenix. Aboard were his wife, Barbara; two children, Jessica, 10, and Ted, 16, and three Japanese amateur crewmen, Nitchi Mikami, 31, Motosada Fushima, 23, and Mitsugi Sumitsu, 26.

They arrived here Saturday. Dr. Reynolds, who was an anthropologist with the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission at Hiroshima, said they skirted two typhoons, weather winter gales, but had good sailing weather most of the time for their two-month trip.

The Japanese Coast Guard had been trying to locate the yacht and there was some fear that it was lost. It had no radio transmitter although it had two receivers to pick up weather information.

The yacht will remain in Hawaii about three months. Then the scientist, who comes from Yellow Springs, Ohio, and his family

Co-op Dinner

BUFFALO County farmers and businessmen united at the annual Association of Cooperatives banquet at the Gilmanton High School auditorium Friday night.
More than 400 persons, part of them shown, were present.

On stage at left, Adolph Maassen, Alma, president of the association, is behind the microphone.
Seated at his left are John Hartman, Alma; Arthur Benjamin, Nelson; and Fred Publ, Mondovi, all association directors.

Clyde Ellis, Washington, D. C.,
former Arkansas congressman,
now executive secretary of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Associations, told the group that atomic-generated electricity probably will be seen first in this area because it lacks coal and oil.

The former congressman also lashed out at the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract. He said it will cost the country about $150 million more than if the Tennessee Valley Authority generated the power itself. (Daily News

Strauss Reports U.S. Still Ahead In Atomic Field

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said today the United States is "making very rapid and satisfactory progress" and continues to lead Russia in the nuclear weapons field.

Asked in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U.S. News and World Report whether this country is "substantially ahead of Soviet Russia" in the atomic arms race, Strauss replied:

"Yes. We started sooner. We have more material to experiment with. We have more facilities. We believe we have more of these very large experimental machines. But, since I can't look behind the Iron Curtain, I can't be absolutely certain. Most importantly, we have a devoted group of free men at work on the problems."

"We are making very rapid and satisfactory progress. In a business which has no competition until and unless you go to war, it's a little dangerous to feel assurance that the progress is satisfactory, but I believe it is."

Strauss said the nation now has about 8 1/2 billion dollars invested in its atomic energy business, and that the present program contemplates spending of about half a billion dollars more on the plant.

"Then," he said, "we will be running along with an operating expenditure of about two billion dollars a year . . . for as long as one can foresee."

Carbon Monoxide In Brooder Shack Fatal to Farmer

EMPIRE, Minn. (AP) — Three members of a well-to-do farm family near here were found overcome by carbon monoxide gas Sunday in a converted brooder shack. One was dead, the others were hospitalized.

Dead is Mark Reed, 64, who had fallen face down on a hot wood stove, the source of the gas. His face and right hand were disfigured with burns. Mrs. Rosa Reed, 55, his mother, and brother, George Reed, 59, were found unconscious.

Mrs. Reed was in critical condition this morning at Farmington Hospital. George Reed was reported conscious and in good condition.

The shack, 12 by 14 feet, is some distance from the farm's main dwelling, which is undergoing repairs. The little building was littered with debris, and a cat was walking around apparently unaffected by the gas.

The scene was discovered at 4 p.m. Sunday by a prospective buyer of the farm. The family has oil holdings in the west, it is reported, and was going to move to California.

5 Sisters Die In Baltimore In Flash Fire

BALTIMORE (AP) — Five sisters, left alone in their second-floor
apartment for about 20 minutes, were burned to death last night when a flash fire trapped them in their bedroom.

George Davis Jr., 6-year-old brother of the victims, suffered third-degree burns and suffocation.
He was in serious condition at South Baltimore General Hospital.
Firemen said the father, a Negro longshoreman, had left the house to go to a nearby restaurant. His wife Ruth, 29, was at a movie.

Davis saw smoke when he arrived home after an absence of 20 minutes. His rescue attempts failed when he was beaten back by intense flames and smoke.

Ten minutes elapsed before firemen could enter the bedroom.
Found dead were Mildred, 10, Rosetta, 4, Wilhelmina, 2, Palestina, 15 months, and Lula, 5 months.

Firemen said the fire started around a stove pipe in the grocery below the apartment.

Winter Over Most of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The weather presented a varie-gated picture today but it all added up to winter.

Rain and snow spread eastward from southern Missouri to the Atlantic Coast, and freezing temperatures were general in the Southern and Central Plains, even into Texas.

But it warmed up in the southeast. Cross City, Fla., which had 31 Sunday, reported 54 early today.
Snow drifts were accompanied by a 10-degree temperature drop in Wisconsin and parts of Michigan. Cadillac, Mich., had 4 below zero.

Rain and snow pelted the Pacific Northwest but to the east warm, dry chinook winds warmed the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains. It was 43 at Great Falls,
Mont., and 41 at Billings, Mont.

Present Laws
Ruining Farmer,
Grain Co-op Told

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Farmers
are "up against the most dangerous farm legislation of our generation," Ole L. Olson, Buxton, N.D.,
told Farmers Union Grain Terminal Ass'n. delegates today as they gathered here for the organization's 17th annual convention.

"Our task in the next two years
is to turn the tables on the farm price wreckers," said Olson, who is GTA president. He called for the large grain marketing co-op
to gather its strength to "win back
what already has been taken away
in the big Washington giveaway."

"In the past two years," he said,
"every effort has been made to destroy the sound agricultural program that took 20 years to build.
To a large degree, the first wrecking attempts have been successful."

"As farmers, we are up against the most dangerous farm legislation of our generation. What this administration says and what it does are two different things. It tells us that farm prices are not made in Washington; at the same time it urged Congress for laws that drive our prices down."

Ole S. Gunderson, Power, Mont.,
GTA secretary-treasurer, told delegates: "There is no hope for the nation's farmers under the Eisenhower-Benson system of flexible farm prices." He called upon delegates to support "any necessary expenditure to continue this farm price campaign."

More than 3,000 farmers from Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana who market their grain through GTA are expected here for the three-day convention. GTA also represents 647 cooperative elevatorists in the four states.

Strong opposition to flexible farm price supports and renewed effort for 90 per cent parity prices is expected to be heard during the convention.

Resolutions committee members said resolutions were framed to carry sharper and stronger opposition to flexible supports than in previous years. Resolutions will not be presented until Wednesday, final convention day.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) will be principal speaker at the annual banquet Tuesday evening.
Among others scheduled to speak during the convention are Orville Freeman, Minnesota governor - elect; James G. Patton, National Farmers union president; Glen J.
Talbot, North Dakota Farmers
Union head and Roy F. Hendrickson, executive secretary and Washington representative of the National Federation of Grain Cooperatives.

ALMA, Wis. (Special)—Funeral services for Miss Amanda Neu-meister, 74, who died Friday at Eau Claire, will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. at St. Lawrence Catholic Church, the Rev. Thomas Ash officiating. Burial will be in Alma Cemetery.

She was born here Jan. 9, 1880, a daughter of Charles and Theresa (Crisch) Neumeister, and attended public school after which she took a stenographic course at the La Crosse Business College.

For 35 years she was an employe of the state school for the feeble minded at Fairbault, Minn., rising in rank from attendant to matron.
A heart ailment forced her to lead a quieter life and she retired and returned to Alma in 1936 where she spent the rest of her life with the exception of a few years in Chicago.

About a year ago an advanced stage of hardening of the arteries called for hospitalization and she entered an Eau Claire hospital where she died.

Survivors include three sisters,
Miss Ottilie Neumeister and Mrs.
William J. (Evelyn) Keil, both of Alma, and Mrs. A. P. (Elsie)
Zepp, Fountain City, and one brother,
Belmont J. Neumeister, Alma.

Three brothers and two sisters are dead: Xavier, Charles, Adolph, Mrs. Clifford (Louise) Condon and
Marie, who died in infancy.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Farmers
are "up against the most danger-

told Farmers Union Grain Terminal Ass'n. delegates today as they
gathered here for the organization's 17th annual convention.

"Our task in the next two years
is to turn the tables on the farm
price wreckers," said Olson, who is GTA president. He called for the large grain marketing co-op
to gather its strength to "win back
what already has been taken away
in the big Washington giveaway."

"In the past two years," he said,
"every effort has been made to destroy the sound agricultural program that took 20 years to build.
To a large degree, the first wrecking attempts have been successful."

Half the Top Teams Beaten In Weekend Basketball Games

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

The betting today is that no college basketball team will go through the season with fewer than two or three defeats.

The campaign is less than two weeks old and already teams tapped for outstanding court seasons have been dumped unceremoniously from the unbeaten class.

Exactly half of the top 10 teams in The Associated Press preseason poll bit the dust for the first time Saturday. They were Duquesne (No. 3), Iowa (No. 4), Holy Cross (No. 5), Niagara (No. 8) and Notre Dame (No. 9). Indiana (No. 6) was beaten earlier in the week. In addition, 11th-ranked Oklahoma A&M was knocked off as was 12th-ranked St. Louis, perennially powerful Western Kentucky, North Carolina, Fordham, Army, Texas Christian and San Francisco. Duke, Penn State, Wake Forest and Kansas State also have been beaten.

La Salle and Kentucky, one-two in last week's AP poll, still were among the unbeaten but not before they were handed real, honest-to-goodness scares. The Explorers, behind from the opening whistle, were forced into overtime before eking out a 76-75 victory over Niagara. It took a desperation shot by Bob Maples with only six seconds left for La Salle to register its fourth triumph.

Kentucky had its toughest game since it last was beaten, by St. John's in 1952, edging Xavier of Ohio 73-69 for its 27th straight. The Wildcats led by only 70-69 with less than a minute remaining.

Dayton and North Carolina State, ranked seventh and 10th respectively in The AP poll, improved their prospects with resounding victories. The Flyers of Ohio won their fourth in a row, burying Bowling Green 109-39, and the Wolfpack notched their fifth straight with a 66-53 win over Eastern Kentucky.

The biggest shock was George Washington's 71-64 annual Steel Bowl triumph over Duquesne, which admittedly was handicapped by the absence of St. Green, its spectacular scorer. Green was out with an attack of appendicitis. Joe Holup led the Colonials with 26 points.

Iowa's 97-94 loss to Missouri also came as a surprise since the Hawkeyes are favored to capture the Big Ten title.

Indiana, Big Ten defending champion, whipped Notre Dame 73-70 Saturday to hand the Irish their first home defeat since February 1952.

Holy Cross, rated one of the best teams in the East, was rocked by St. John's of Brooklyn, blowing a 35-33 halftime lead to bow 93-73. Oklahoma's Aggies suffered their first loss at the hands of Illinois 53-55.

Gopher Icers Prepare for RPI Invasion

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—Minnesota's hockey Gophers, unbeaten against junior leaguers, marshaled today for their first scrapie with college competition—against the national champions.

Minnesota next Monday and Tuesday meets Rensselaer Polytechnic, the tiny Eastern school which upended the odds and Michigan and Minnesota by winning the NCAA playoffs last year.

RPI comes back with essentially the same team which knocked off the Gophers in the finals last year. Minnesota has enough veterans of that game to make the teams' series this year one of the naturals in college hockey.

Minnesota's double sweep over the Winnipeg Barons, 14-1 Friday night and 8-2 Saturday night would have been more convincing if the opposition were stiffer.

"I would like to believe we're that good," Coach Johnny Marucci said today, "but I can't. The Canadian junior leagues usually are tougher than that. I just hope we didn't learn any bad habits."

The Fort Wayne Pistons, thought to be only temporary residents of first place in the National Basketball Assn.'s Western Division, look like they're going to be pretty tough to dispossess.

They won their 10th decision in their last 11 games Sunday night, sneaking past the Boston Celtics 100-99, and stayed four games up on the Minneapolis Lakers. The Lakers, pre-season choice to repeat as Western Division champs, kept within range with an 80-73 triumph over New York.

New York, in turn, gave up second place in the Eastern Division to Philadelphia, which defeated division-leading Syracuse 96-87. Milwaukee beat Rochester in the other game 86-74.

Big Clyde Lovellette scored 22 points for the Lakers, who outshot the Knicks 32-22 from the field. Carl Braun and Harry Gallatin netted 18 each for New York.

Boston and Fort Wayne exchanged the lead 13 times with Larry Foust, high with 28 points, hitting a field goal for a 96-83 Pistons lead with 30 seconds left. Boston, topped by Bill Sharman and Bob Cousy with 21 each, sank 35 of 36 free throw attempts.

Syracuse saw its lead cut to a points in a 94-84 Minnesota victory that set a new school scoring record.

In view of his first timid attempts last year, Simonovich's progress has been remarkable. Scoring alone is secondary because even in the few minutes he played a year ago the Iron Ranger scored often enough. There just wasn't enough height in the country to shut him out.

More revealing has been Bill's improvement on defense and his stamina. No player in the country is more vulnerable to fatigue, Simonovich is one of the slowest players around and he could be reduced to a walk if he tired more quickly than he does.

In two games, Coach Ozzie Cowles has helped him almost to the limit, seeking to build both his confidence and his staying power. Simonovich has stuck it out.

In the DePaul game, he delivered all he was asked to do—scoring 20 points, grabbing 15 rebounds and playing with determination on defense. He still must overcome a reflex slowness which results in fumbled passes and missed scoring chances. But his persistence has attracted to him a huge following at the arena.

DePaul's daring horseshoe style couldn't match superior Minnesota firepower and reserve strength. Mencil hit 16 points and Ron Sobieszczyk led all scorers with 26 points for DePaul.

Minnesota's next game is against Oklahoma A&M on the road.

Browns, Lions Set to Play For Pro Title

By BARD LINDEMAN
The Associated Press

The Cleveland Browns have captured their fifth straight division championship in the National Football League and now go after their first "World Series" victory over the Detroit Lions.

Coach Buddy Parker's well balanced Lions defeated the Paul Brown-coached champions two years running in the post-season money game. In 1952 it was 17-7 and last year the Lions won in a thrilling finish, 17-16. The Browns won their only playoff by beating Los Angeles in 1950.

The two clubs clash at Cleveland on consecutive Sundays, due to an October postponement. The all-out match is Dec. 26. In what will amount to a warm-up or "scouting" contest, the two titans come to grips Sunday in the make-up game.

The Browns, in their eighth victory, drubbed Pittsburgh 42-7 Sunday. It also marked the ninth straight time the Browns have won a pro football crown.

The Lions, with their title already assured, played hot-and-cold against the Chicago Bears and were taken 28-24. Detroit, playing without No. 1 quarterback Bobby Layne, failed with a 21-point last period. Chicago, by winning, grabbed second place in the Western Conference and finished its best season since 1950 with an 8-4 mark.

The Philadelphia Eagles grabbed second place in the Eastern Conference, overwhelming the New York Giants 29-14.

In other games as the regular league season ended, the Washington Redskins whipped the Chicago Cards 37-20 in their biggest offensive explosion in four years, burying the Cards in last place in the east, and Los Angeles outscored Green Bay 35-27. On Saturday San Francisco clipped Baltimore 10-7.

Gusties Invade Terrace Heights Tuesday Night

Cold Shooting Hampers Redmen Against Macs

ST. PAUL, Minn. — The St. Mary's Redmen experienced one of their coldest shooting slugs in many a moon here Saturday night and lost a 71-53 Minnesota College Conference decision to surprising Macalester as a result.

Coach Ken Wiltgen's Redmen were plagued by a reversal of the form that carried them to four consecutive non-conference victories prior to the clash with the Macs. The Redmen shot only 36 per cent in the first half, hitting three field goals in 18 attempts, and ended with a 32 per cent shooting mark for the game, way below St. Mary's usual figure.

"Let's hope we got the bad game out of our system," Wiltgen said. His cagers battle Gustavus Tuesday night at Terrace Heights in a renewal of a colorful MCC rivalry.

The duel between these two teams goes back to the 1921-22 season and shows the Gusties with a 24-17 edge in games won and lost.

In 13 meetings since the 1946-47 season, the Redmen have won six games and the closeness of the scores attests to the bitterness of the rivalry.

The Redmen beat Gustavus 66-58 in the 1946-47 season, won 62-64 the following year and split with the Gusties every year since except for the 1951-52 season when the Golden Horde won games by three and four points.

A year ago the Redmen beat Gustavus 64-51, one of three losses handed to the defending MCC champions.

In 1952-53, the Redmen won 95-94. The Marions took a 70-68 decision in 1950-51 and captured a 40-39 victory in the 1948-49 season.

Wiltgen indicated no change in the starting lineup for Tuesday night's battle. If the lineup remains the same, St. Mary's will start John Curran at center, Fred Sheridan and Bill Skemp at forwards and Marty Coughlin and Gene Biewen at the outcourt posts.

The colorful Gusties will be the chief opponent of the season for St. Mary's. Of the ten lettermen, only starter Johnny Patzwald and a reserve are under 6-3.

Probable starters for Gustavus will be 6-3 Jim Springer at center, 6-7 Dick Kumlun and 6-5 Jack Colvard at forwards and 6-4 Bob Erdman joining Patzwald at guard. Also slated for heavy duty is 6-5 Cliff Straka, a starter and captain a year ago who reported late after football season.

Gustavus has a 2-3 mark on the season, losing to nationally-ranked Dayton and Western Kentucky, and with good West Texas State. Gustavus beat Augsburg 81-62 in MCC action and holds a non-conference victory at Beloit.

St. Mary's, with a good shooting night, could give the Gusties a stiff battle since the Redmen have good height. Poor shooting cost them the Macalester game.

The contest started slow with the score 2-2 after 3-30 elapsed. The score was 14-9 for Macalester after 10 minutes and less than seven minutes remained in the first half when Gene Biewen sank St. Mary's first field goal.

The Scots led 34-21 at half-time but the Redmen pulled to within seven points at 43-36. Some 14 minutes remained in the game at that point.

Macalester then went into a control game and gradually spread the advantage, leading by 67-46 with five minutes left.

None of the Redmen scored in double figures. Biewen, Bill Skemp and John Curran all hit nine points apiece. Guard Bruce Pagel led Macalester with 18 points, Mac's sophomore center, Jerry Drier, counted 14 in addition to giving the hosts a decided advantage in the rebound department.

BIG GRAY TO PASTURE

The Dancer Joins Racing Immortals

By JOHN CHANDLER
AP Newsfeatures

Thoroughbred horse racing officials reported a record attendance for 1954, a season which saw the final retirement of the great Native Dancer as American champion—the sport's highest honor.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's magnificent gray Dancer won all three races in his final year. His career was cut short by a foot injury. But when the votes were counted, the ghost of Sagamore was still the champ.

Native Dancer, now set for a stud career, joins such racing immortals as Man O' War, Citation, Count Fleet, Gallant Fox and Whirlaway. In 22 races, the Dancer met defeat but once, in the 1953 Kentucky Derby. He retired with $785,240 in purse winnings as the fourth leading money winner in the world.

Among the 1954 stars was Determine, a little California package of TNT owned by Andy Crevolin. Where the Dancer had failed, Determine became the first grey horse ever to win the Derby.

The triple crown for 3-year-olds was split between the west, middle west and east. After running second in the Derby, Hasty Road, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Allie Keuben of Toledo, Ohio, captured the Preakness. Then High Gun, owned by the King Ranch and trained and raced in the east, grabbed the Belmont Stakes.

Here are the 1954 champions in each division named by the board of selections of the 39 tracks making up the Thoroughbred Racing Assn.: American Champion—Native Dancer.

Champion 3-year-old colt—High Gun.

Champion 3-year-old filly—Foxcatcher Farm's Parlo.

Champion 2-year-old colt—Belair Stud's Nashua.

Champion 2-year-old filly—Wheatley Stable's High Voltage.

Champion race mare—Mrs. Charles Silvers' Lavender Hill. Champion steeplechaser—Lawrence's Troiano's King Commander.

Native Dancer's most spectacular performance came in May when he staged a sensational finish in the Metropolitan Handicap. Far behind at the head of the stretch he did what seemed impossible, catching Straight Face at the wire for a narrow victory in one of the greatest races ever seen at Belmont Park.

A bit later Nashua began showing the form which brought him the 2-year-old crown, and perhaps the early favorite's role for the 1955 Derby. Nashua, Mrs. Russell A. Firestone's Summer Tan, and the Clearwater Stable's Royal Coinage in the East, and the Murelain Stable's Blue Ruler in the Far West, topped the juvenile colts.

Warriors Play Stout Quintet Here Tonight

Blugolds Hand Staters Worst Loss of Season

By BOB ZIEBEL
Daily News Sports Writer

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. — The Winona State Warriors ran up against a tall and hot-shooting Eau Claire State basketball team here Saturday night and it spelled a 105-74 defeat for the Warriors, their third in a row after winning the first of the season.

The Blugolds boast a starting lineup averaging 6-3 in height. The tallest of the group was 6-9 Roger Hanson at center who took high point honors for the game with a total of 26, although he played only a little more than a half.

It was the third straight win for the Blugolds, including a victory over West Texas, which in turn defeated powerful Mankato and Gustavus Adolphus.

Eau Claire jumped in front at the outset of the game, 10-0, and was never headed. The Blugolds led, 16-2, after that before Jerry Grebin and Jess Waldron scored to make it 16-6. That was as close as the Warriors came the rest of the game.

Gil Regnier, the only center to make the trip for the Warriors, (reserve Jim Kern was held up because of the bad road conditions) was plagued by foul trouble, and retired to the bench with four with 11 minutes remaining in the first half.

Regnier is the biggest man on the Warrior squad at 6-4, and his loss left Hanson open to score on easy shots under the basket.

The Blugolds held a 61-27 halftime lead, and as close as the Warriors could come following the intermission was a 73-41 deficit. The game found forward John Anderson and guard Laddie Turner seeing action for the first time this season.

Anderson has been troubled with an ankle injury and Turner just returned to school for the winter quarter. Anderson chipped in 14 points. Lee Paul, rebounding leader for the Winona Staters, took Warrior point honors with 16.

Pete Polus totaled 13. The Warriors outscored the hosts 12-4 in the last three minutes, but it was to no avail and the score ended at 105-74 for Eau Claire.

The point total was a new high for the Winconsin college. Twice in 1951 the Blugolds pushed 104 points through the hoops. Last year the high was 95.

The next game for the Warriors will be played tonight at Memorial Hall against Stout Institute of Menomonie, Wis. The game will be preceded by a 6:30 preliminary game between the Warrior junior varsity and the Oaks, an independent Winona team.

Hamline, GA Open MCC Slate With Victories

Challenges Face Co-Favorites This Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Macalester was an interim leader in the Minnesota College Conference basketball race today but Gustavus Adolphus was back in a sunny climate, thinking more about championships and less worried about prestige.

Macalester panted highly-respected St. Mary's 71-53 Saturday night for its second straight league victory. Yet Gustavus, relaxing from its energetic non-conference schedule, was waiting to move up after an 81-52 decision over Augsburg.

Hamline, expected to offer Gustavus its sharpest opposition, got under way safely in league play with a taut 55-55 victory over St. Thomas.

Both Gustavus and Hamline now face serious challenges during the coming week. Hamline is on the road Tuesday to play St. John's, while Gustavus is at home Wednesday to play St. Mary's at Winona, where the Redmen invariably are hard to beat.

Gustavus' extreme height was too much for Augsburg, especially the 6-8 of center Jim Springer, who rolled up 38 points including seven straight field goals over one stretch.

Hamline trailed St. Thomas most of the way before reserve Gene Auck fired a rally which caught the Tommies late in the game. Guard Bill Salasik scored 20 points for Hamline, Dave Tschimperl 12 and Auck 11. Bill Cronin hit 13 for St. Thomas.

Duluth Branch also got past its MCC opener with a 100-77 avalanche over Concordia. Tom Richardson and Bob McDonald each scored 21 points for the Bulldogs.

Defending Midwest Conference co-champion Carleton lost its first league game of the season, 75-70 to Cornell. Grinnell's Crowl brothers, Dick and Bud, were the difference with 21 and 16 points respectively. Laurie Slocum notched 25 for Carleton and Howie Rosenblum hit 20.

St. Olaf met a similar fate, bowing 71-56 to Lawrence. Dick Werhahl led Ole scorers with 14 points. North Dakota State's Gene Gamache scored on an out-of-bounds play with two seconds left to beat Moorhead Teachers, 72-71. The loss snapped a four-game Moorhead victory string.

Winona Teachers lost to Eau Claire 105-74 in a free throw orgy. Both teams were assessed 33 fouls, producing 113 tries from the free throw line.

Superior State hammered Bemidji 74-63 as Jack Hulmer scored 22 points. Bob Ness hit 15 for Bemidji.

Bethel whipped Sioux Falls, 98-84 and South Dakota State downed St. Cloud 70-50.

Owen Lattimore Attacks Two New Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—Owen Lattimore's attorneys sought in court arguments today to knock out a new two-count indictment against the controversial Far Eastern specialist.

They contended in advance briefs that "the sole issue... would be Lattimore's opinion as to the guilt of the defendant," but U. S. Dist. Atty. Leo A. Rover replied that the legal attack on the indictment "can be reduced to an objection to the mere fact that he was indicted."

The hearing sent Rover once more before Dist. Judge Luther W. Youngdahl, whom he had accused earlier in an affidavit of having "a fixed personal bias and prejudice" in favor of Lattimore and against the government. Youngdahl struck Rover's affidavit from the record as "scandalous" and refused to disqualify himself from hearing the case.

The new indictment alleges that Lattimore lied when he told the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee in 1952 that he (1) had never been a follower of the Communist line and (2) had never been a promoter of Communist interests.

It was returned after Judge Youngdahl had dismissed as too vague the key count of an earlier indictment which charged that Lattimore lied in denying that he was a Communist sympathizer or promoter of Red causes. The U. S. Court of Appeals upheld the dismissal by an 8-1 vote, but reinstated two other counts which Youngdahl had thrown out.

Lattimore has denied allegations of pro-Communism.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D.Ss.

Answer to Question No. 1
1. Yes. Couples seeking advice about having children are often comforted. Most everything we inherit is good. If not, the human race would have perished long ago. But we do have a few defects, and heredity clinics can often calculate what chances there are that children may inherit them. For self-addressed, stamped envelope I will give you the addresses of these dozen or more clinics. Their advice is now free.

Answer to Question No. 2
2. No. Mere "goodness" is about as dangerous in government as downright roguery. Murderers of Socrates and Caesar and also the World War I and II gangsters thought that they were "good" public officers. What we need in addition to good intentions is high intelligence as well as training and efficiency. "Good" is a pretty broad word, anyway.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. "A myth," says Marjorie Van de Water in "Science News Letter," reviewing the study of many retired champions by Dr. Thomas Cureton, University of Illinois. Dr. Cureton finds that the trouble does not result from overactivity in youth. Only those break down, he says, who become inactive and eat and drink too much after they have retired from sports. Sure comforts me, as I was a marble champion in grade school.

Vaudeville Act Has Fire Backdrop

FAIRLY SPOKEN

By MARGARET LATROBE

The postmen of metropolitan New York are protesting against the very real burden they carry — those bullet-dodgers tenderly addressed to Patron, Boxholder, Taxpayer, Voter and Citizens All.

They are sick and exhausted with toting circulars. They say nobody reads 'em, that the recipients get fighting mad at postmen for leaving the stuff, and something has gotta be done about shutting off the windbag advertisers.

And I say the gentlemen are right. Although it may be unbecoming in them to tell Uncle Sam that part of his stamp revenue is junk stuff, it is time somebody used a little common sense about the deluge of slick paper trash getting a ride all over the country before it winds up in the incinerator.

The advertiser must have guessed that mailbox stuffers aren't worth the expense; that box holders sprint toward the ash can with the circulars, seals unbroken. It's only the poor postman who suffers, simply by using up muscle-power to tote the unopened ads from printer to junk wagon.

An expert in advertising research, Albert Shepard, spoke before the Eastern annual conference of American Association of Advertising at a New York hotel the other day. He came right out with it — "advertising is not based on logical or rational reasons." Women do not buy new shoes because they need shoes. Industrial firms do not buy new machinery because they need it. Mamas do not purchase certain brands of breakfast fodder because of any select vitamins therein. Mr. Shepard says there is a strong emotional factor involved which constitutes a "third voice." This is ethereal vocalizing tells the lady her ankles would show off to better advantage in a slim new sandal. It tells the boss that cup water typewriters will make the girls beat out the letters faster, and

Mother of Four Stabbed, Wounded

CHICAGO (U)—A mother of four was stabbed and seriously wounded yesterday, police said, after spurning a reconciliation with her estranged husband.

Police quoted the husband, Lacey Daniels, 47, as saying, "I hope she dies."

Daniels was held without charge. He was disarmed by other patrons of a North Side tavern, where police said he had pleaded for a reconciliation with his wife Lucille, 33.

Police said three of the couple's four children are with his mother in Mount Hope, W.Va., where the Daniels lived until four years ago. The fourth child, Lacey, 12, is in the juvenile home in Chicago.
